ALL THE FUN OF THE DIAMOND JUBILEE REGATTA AND ITS RECORD PARADE

UNDER THE SMILING sun and with a gentle breeze to keep the temperature right, Kelowna Regatta parade was a classic Thursday. It was the biggest on record, and was praised by spectators for the consistently high standard of the floats and entries. From the hard-driving Shriners on their magnificent miniature machines, to the great figure of a mountie, the parade was heartily applauded. Here are just three of the 120 units entered in the parade. A girl trumpeter, left, with cheeks puffed out can be regarded as a tribute to the scores of musicians and bandsmen who made the parade such a musical masterpiece. Centre, one of the wild Norsemen from Revelstoke seizes a fair captive off the street. A total of 20 such captives were seized and held in 'bondage' until the parade was over. The girls, like the one here, did not seem too worried by their adventure. And right, representing the many visiting floats and royalty, the luscious entry from Penticton typified the spirit of happiness and beauty that prevailed at the parade, one of the highlights of Canada's largest water shows. See other stories and photos on inside pages.

First Step Toward Strike Taken by Kelowna Union

The first step towards a strike has been taken by the 150 members of local 338 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees in Kelowna.

A notice of poll was released by union representatives today, calling for a government-supervised strike vote Monday. If the union votes in favor of the strike, the strike could begin within 48 hours.

The notice of poll reads: "To all employees of the City of Kelowna except those employed in the electrical department and fire department; represented by the Canadian Union of Public Employees: The poll will be held at City Hall in the council chambers on Monday, Aug. 15, 1966, between the hours of 12 noon and 1:30 p.m., and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., for the purpose of ascertaining your answer to the following question—Are you in favor of striking?"

The 150-member local refused a conciliation board's report about three weeks ago saying the terms offered were far below those originally asked for. Union representatives said the report failed to reach for parity with wages paid Vancouver city workers.

City representatives accepted the conciliation board's report. They described it as "reasonable and fair".

Beserk Gunman Fells Four In Firm's Crowded Cafeteria

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A man sought in a slaying early today went on a gun rampage shortly after noon, shooting two men and two women at a gun club.

The extent of their injuries was not known at once, but in a resulting gun duel with police officers he was himself shot and pronounced dead on arrival at a New Haven hospital.

He was shot by police Sgt. John Widmann who went across a room at him, using a circular table as a shield.

The shooting occurred in a cafeteria at the Winchester gun club. There was no immediate explanation for the outbreak.

William Natale, 45, an electrician, narrowly escaped being shot by pretending he had been hit. He said:

"I was sitting with four other electricians and we heard gunshots and we heard some girls screaming. Everybody started running out. William Carney and myself started running to where we could hear the screams."

"We didn't know it was some guy shooting people."

The shootings occurred shortly after noon at the Winchester Gun Club, a spot where employees of the Winchester-western division of Olin Mathieson Corporation have lunch, recreational facilities and even a rifle range.

The division manufactures guns. Police identified the gunman as Joseph Davis, who they said was sought as a suspect in the back-slaying of a woman whose body was found earlier today in another area of New Haven.

Three Policemen Slain In London

LONDON (AP)—Three police officers were shot dead today in a West London street after stopping two men.

One was shot through the windshield of their parked police car and the other two hands got out before they were gunned down.

Scotland Yard immediately threw its entire West London force into the case.

No Comment, Retorts Imlach On Shack's Kelowna Visit

Eddie Shack, the up-and-down again hockey star of the Toronto Maple Leafs may blame his latest trip out of the National Hockey League on the Kelowna Mid-Summer Hockey game.

Dick Beddoes, Toronto Globe and Mail columnist, confronted Thursday that the colorful Shack played in the Mid-Summer game without Toronto's permission.

Shack, a 26-goal man with Toronto in the 65-66 season, was sent to the Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League Thursday. No reason for the move was given.

The Daily Courier learned Thursday the move was made as "punishment" for Shack's appearance at the Mid-Summer game, Aug. 6, when he was one of five NHL stars playing here.

Punch Imlach, general manager and coach of the Leafs has ordered Shack to report at Victoria Sept. 25 in time for the opening of the WHL season.

Imlach said the move was a "result of several things he did over the summer, but I'm not going to get drawn into a front page debate with a player or that's all I'm saying." He refused any direct comment on the Kelowna visit.

But Imlach, who shipped Shack to the Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League early last season before recalling him, said Thursday the latest move does not necessarily mean Shack won't play for Toronto this year.

"He will not be at our training camp," Imlach said. "That's all I have to say."

"What I do is for the good of my hockey team. The decisions are mine and that's that."

The summer game was held in honor of a Kelowna hockey organizer, the late Bob Giordano.

ARMSTRONG FAIR 'OUT IN COLD'

ARMSTRONG (CP) — Alderman J. A. Little is angry.

He told council Wednesday night that the current issue of the provincial government magazine, Beautiful British Columbia lists every little community fair around the province—except Armstrong's.

And Armstrong's, he said, just happens to be the biggest of the B.C. Interior shows.

Council members agreed Armstrong had been snubbed. Members back Alderman Little's suggestion the omission be brought to the publisher's attention.

Judge McInness Dies Aged 68

GRAND FOLKS (CP) — Mr. Justice Harold W. McInness, a member of the British Columbia Supreme Court since 1964 died Thursday while on a holiday near his south central B.C. community. He was 68.

He was born in Rossland and lived in Vancouver, Trail and Penticton. He was a graduate of McGill College of B.C. at Vancouver one year before it became the University of B.C.

Children Die In Old Fridge

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Three children missing from their home for more than 24 hours were found dead in an abandoned refrigerator Thursday.

Dead are Joey Tyndall, 10, his brother Keith, 8, and sister Delores, 7, of Prince Albert. City police said they disappeared Wednesday.

B.C.'s OLDEST MAN DIES AT 110

DUNCAN (CP) — A relative said today that Abel Charlie, the oldest resident of Kelowna, died at 110 years of age, shortly after he hoisted his canoe from the water.

"He lifted his canoe from the water and he strangled himself," his son, Patrick Charlie, said in an interview. Funeral services were held Thursday for the older Charlie.

"He was a little old to be hoisting heavy canoe," said son Patrick. He explained that his father had been fishing alone prior to his death.

"He told me he thought he lived so long because when he was young my people used to throw their kids into the river to swim, even in winter time," added Simon Charlie, Abel's grandson.

"It sort of made them tough," he said.

Regatta Reports 'A Full Recovery'

Canada's largest water show went off with a bang Thursday. Sunny skies, light winds and warm, but not unbearably hot, temperatures gave spectators and participants the kind of day the Kelowna Regatta should have.

Sun bathers and swimmers packed the beaches. The Kinsmen midway in City Park was busy until midnight.

Sports events went on all day. The water skiing events, dogged by high winds Wednesday and postponed until Thursday, were back on schedule.

More than 15,000 spectators lined the parade route to watch the largest parade in Regatta history.

Bonnie Gullar and the Harmonicats, stars of the night show, entertained a crowd of 2,000 people.

The Okanagan weatherman, who brewed up a malicious wind Wednesday, belatedly remembered this is Regatta Week in Kelowna.

He made his amends Thursday. Sunny skies, light winds and warm, but not unbearably hot, temperatures gave spectators and participants the kind of day the Kelowna Regatta should have.

Kelowna, Kamloops Divers Succeed

Divers from Kelowna and Kamloops swam away with the six diving competitions held during the morning activities at Ogopogo Pool.

Steve Brow of Kelowna nailed down first place in the boys 10 and under one metre diving by gathering 24.56 points.

Allan Saucier of Kamloops won two titles this morning, in the 11 and 12 boys one meter diving and the 16 and under boys three meter diving. Alan picked up 44.96 points in the one meter event and defeated his brother Laurie by 8.32 points in the three meter event. Saucier picked up 28.72 points in the three meter diving.

Cheryl Coderre of Kelowna had no opposition in the 11 and 12 girls one meter diving. She pushed on however, and garnered 27.95 points.

Laurie Saucier of Kamloops had no opposition in the 11 and 12 girls one meter diving. She pushed on however, and garnered 27.95 points.

REGATTA CHATTER

Commodore of the Kelowna Regatta, Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene seemed puzzled during Thursday night's show. He was questioning his appointment as Regatta Commodore. "I thought they'd ask a former navy man to act as commodore during a water show," he said.

"But I'm a former member of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Of course, the way navy personnel are quitting lately, the force was probably the only service branch left to choose from."

Fans of the RCAF Red Knight received a real bonus Thursday night, the flying team's last evening in Kelowna. After the parade many people drove to the Kelowna Airport to see the fly-in act take off. While he was performing for lakefront fans the alternate Red Knight Flt. Lt. Jack Reilly took off in a second red T-33 jet trainer and did about 15 minutes of aerobatics over the airport.

Bonnie Gullar's 16-year-old daughter, Alexya, has already made a recording. Small wonder considering the family tradition. Alexya's mother and father are both musicians; Bonnie's father played the violin and her grandfather played the cello in England.

Were things really that cold after the parade? Not at all. After the parade, the poolside sign recorded the water temperature. At that time the water was 80 degrees and the air was 78 degrees. At that rate the swimmers will soon be wearing ice skates.

Negro Political Leaders Urged to Join in Protest

CHICAGO (AP)—Negro political leaders in Chicago have been urged to join the protests for open housing, including a march planned today into the city's southwest side.

The call for more support by Negro aldermen, committeemen and legislators for the march—which had been postponed earlier in the week—came from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in telegrams sent from Jackson, Miss., where he is ill with a virus.

Rev. James Bevel, one of King's aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told a Chicago rally Thursday night that at least 500 persons would be in the march today.

Meanwhile, 100 white youths marched around a northside Chicago police station Thursday night protesting alleged police brutality. A crowd of more than 500 persons watched quietly.

In Detroit, beefed-up police straight nights.

Ten Negroes were arrested Thursday night and a fire bomb was thrown into a beer and wine store, causing minor damage.

Tensions ran high in the East Flatbush section of Brooklyn after a white mob's rush on a Negro home was repulsed with shots which wounded two white youths. Police posted guards on the home of the Negro.

At Grenada, Miss., the city council banned all gatherings in the town square. Exploding cherry bombs and flying bottles and rocks at the square had kept racial tension at a high pitch during the previous three nights.

Officers at Carthage, Miss., searched for clues in an explosion which damaged the home of a Negro civil rights leader Wednesday night without inflicting injuries.

A Maryland state court judge at Baltimore extended for 90 days an injunction banning rallies by the National States Rights Party because, he said, party speakers had implanted "the idea of hanging" in a crowd's mind.

Review of Labor Disputes From Points Across Nation

SUBBURY
TORONTO (CP)—While Opponents in Subbury's base metals contract dispute prepare to resume negotiations today after a 23-day wildcat strike, the Ontario Labor Relations Board is marking time on an application to have the strike declared illegal.

What is the point of an official declaration that an obviously illegal strike is illegal?

Primarily, it is because the Ontario Labor Relations Act sets out that this is part of the procedure when one party to a dispute wants to prosecute the other for violating the law.

It also can be a jockeying for position between two antagonists playing for huge stakes, as in the fight between International Nickel Co. of Canada and the United Steelworkers of America.

TERRACE
TERRACE (CP)—Some 80 employees of Twin River Timber Ltd., are reported to have walked off the job at the company's Nass River Valley operations north of here.

QUEBEC
QUEBEC (CP)—Agreement on a new labor contract was reached early today between Hydro-Quebec and representatives of its 4,500 workers on strike at the Manicouagan and Outardes power project sites in northeastern Quebec.

A spokesman for the Confederation of National Trade Unions said the government-owned utility made some "major concessions in working hours, salaries, and employee classification."

Terms of the agreement were not given.

VANCOUVER
VANCOUVER (CP)—The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (CLC) has announced an assessment of $5 a day against carpenters not affected by the current lockout-strike situation in B.C.

Union business representative Larry Anderson said Thursday carpenters on strike or locked out will receive strike pay based on 50 per cent of normal strike pay of $50 a week.

KITIMAT

Socreds in Victoria 'Mislead' Says Strachan On Vote Drive

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial government's "falling to give an honest accounting to the people" will be a major campaign issue for the Sept. 12 election, New Democratic Party leader Robert Strachan said Thursday.

He was commenting on the abridged public accounts released Wednesday by Premier Bennett which showed the province spent $2,163,711 more in the 1965-66 fiscal year than the authorized appropriation.

Mr. Strachan said the government misled the public about its financial affairs, while the premier said Wednesday he was the first provincial leader to report on the fiscal year ending March 31.

The report showed the province spent $533,798,667 while revenue, excluding federal grants, soared to $544,685,832 to create a budgetary surplus of $10,887,165.

Mr. Strachan countered by saying the overexpenditure also included $66,300,000 used to pay off ferry and Pacific Great Eastern railway debts and was not "used for normal government services."

He said the accounts show the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service spent $2,200,000 less than its appropriation and charged the B.C.H.I.S. has spent its legislative fund votes by $27,700,000 since 1959-60.

The NDP leader said although the highways department overspent $12,200,000 last year "the premier forgot to say that since 1955-56 the highways department has spent a total of $13-"

'Mysterious' Strangers Worry Alaska Fishermen

GAMBELL, Alaska (AP)—Native fishermen on the northwest coast of St. Lawrence Island near Siberia are apprehensive about the mysterious appearance of six or seven strangers at one of their fishing camps, newspaper publisher Al Phelps reports.

Phelps, publisher of the Nome Nugget, flew here Thursday. His account follows:

Alaska State Trooper Lowell Parker and an Alaska national guard Eskimo scout detachment went to investigate the incident Wednesday and have not returned. Another detachment of Eskimo scouts, headed by Capt. Tim Gologeran, left Thursday afternoon.

Gologeran would say only that they were "going out to look for them."

FIRE AT MEN
Clifford Ikknoknok, a fisherman, said he and his family were in a house at their fishing camp 20 miles from Gambell Tuesday night when he saw the men draining gasoline from his Weasel, a snow vehicle. Ikknoknok said he fired a couple of shotgun blasts and the men fled.

Ikknoknok said he discovered that gas had been drained from two snow vehicles and his skin boat had been slashed. He brought his family into Gambell, largest community on the island.

Gambell is at the northwest tip of the island, about 35 miles from Siberia. Most of the other native fishermen also left their camps and came into Gambell, apparently for protection.

Phelps said some people here believed the incident might have some connection with the mysterious disappearance of two hunters on the island last fall. The hunters left here for their cabin at Southeast Cape, on the opposite end of the island, and were never heard from again.

Searchers found a d. cigarette, flour and other items scattered throughout the cabin and the men's dogs tied up and starving. Neither the men nor their rifles, clothing and equipment were ever found.

Beatle Deplores Current Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—"I never meant it as a lousy, anti-religious thing," said Beatle John Lennon Thursday night, explaining his remark that "the Beatles are more popular than Jesus."

He told a news conference. "I was sort of deploring the attitude toward Christianity."

"From what I've read or observed, it (Christianity) just seems to me to be shrinking, to be losing contact."

Paul McCartney added: "And we all deplore the fact."

Since Lennon's remarks were published, some radio stations have banned Beatle records and some former fans have made bonfires of Beatle records and pictures.

In Britain, Lennon said, his remarks caused hardly a ripple. The long-haired singers arrived Thursday to give two concerts today. They were greeted by a relatively small group of fans at the airport.

The Beatles will give a concert in Toronto Aug. 17.

Beatle Deplores Current Trend

EDINBURGH (CP)—More than a dozen agricultural scientists from all parts of Canada are registered among the 1,000 delegates attending an international congress on animal production which opened here today.

Eight papers covering developments in animal research in Canada are among the approximately 185 papers which are to be read before the congress ends next Thursday.

Prof. G. J. Brisson, a member of the agriculture faculty at Laval University in Montreal since its foundation in 1961, is one of the few delegates who will be presenting two separate papers.

Single papers will be presented by J. P. Bowland of Edmonton, professor of animal nutrition at the University of Alberta, Dr. F. V. Machardy, head of the university's department of agricultural engineering; Dr. R. J. Forrest of the federal experimental farm at Agassiz, B.C., and Dr. W. D. Kitts, professor of animal husbandry at the University of British Columbia.

In Oogopog Pool Wednesday night, she twirled and dipped in the graceful movements of the synchronized swimmer.

Their movements seem effortless, yet each spent months of patient practising before entering the Pacific Northwest Synchronized Swimming Championships here on the first day of the Kelowna Regatta.

About 25 girls were entered from swimming clubs in Ocean Falls, Calgary and Vancouver. Ages are 13 to 18.

Kelowna girls cannot compete in general classes because they do not have an indoor pool for year-round practice.

There is a special class called Summer Club Figures and this year six girls entered from Kelowna. The event was won by Boots Elston.

"I would like to see an indoor pool in Kelowna," Mrs. George Athans said. She is chairman of the synchronized swimming competitions.

"If we had a pool I would like to teach synchronized swimming," she said. Mrs. Athans said the Manitoabo synchronized solo championship for five years.

"We have some excellent little swimmers in Kelowna but without a pool for winter practice they can't compete with the entries who do."

HAD HELP

The Kelowna synchronized swimmers' begin practising six basic figures when school is out in June. This year they were helped by Wendy Carr-Hilton of Vancouver.

The out-of-town competitors would probably start working on their routine for the season in September, Mrs. Athans said.

The girls enter more than one competition and generally use the same routine in each.

The coach and swimmer get together and work out a theme and a routine, a paper on which begin the hours' workouts in the water. The work is comparable to that of a figure skater.

AGONY NUMBER

This year's winner of the solo competition, the Montclair of Ocean Falls, picked the Agony as the theme for her number.

The beautiful water ballet staged each night of the Regatta in Okorope Pool is the work of an all-Kelowna cast.

The different numbers seen each of the four nights are produced and directed by Mrs. Jan Wood of Kelowna.

About 50 girls between the ages of nine and 17 take part, also one little six-year-old, Mrs. Wood's daughter, Barbara.

This year's water ballet includes tumbling ballerinas, paddleboard number, float board number and synchronized swimmers.

GRAND BUNCH

"We have a grand bunch of girls, they've done a tremendous job," Mrs. Wood said today. She has a great admiration for these girls who go into the cold water each evening.

The tumbling ballet was scheduled for Wednesday had to be cancelled because of high winds.

Mrs. Wood hopes these girls will get a chance to do their number some other evening.

Each year to train for the Regatta event, all that is required is to be able to swim the length of the pool. They begin practice July 4 and practice three-and-one-half hours daily.

CENTENNIAL THEME

This year's themes include a Centennial old fashion waltz, done on the paddleboards with bathing costumes of years gone by, and outer space theme, a western theme, as well as float boards with windmills and one with western fillies.

Mrs. Wood thinks up all themes and routines and designs the costumes. Bill Jennings of Kelowna does all the props and but designs. Mrs. Wood has friends who do the costume sewing for her.

The producer gets her ideas from television, books, friends sometimes from a piece of music she hears. This is the first year Mrs. Wood produced and directed the entire water ballet alone. She took over last year from Mrs. Joan Nagle of Van

The appearance of big name acts in smaller cities, such as Kelowna, will become increasingly frequent, according to the Harmonicats.

Jerix Murad and the Harmonicats are one of the "big name acts" making their way to Kelowna. They appear on stage at the Aquatic Grandstand tonight and Saturday night.

The old days of a box office around are gone for the Harmonicats. A "Floor and Don't Floor" night.

The eight-year-old veterans required booking in half a dozen nearby towns before they venture from their home base.

Today, with cash air travel, entertainers often fly 2,000 miles for a one-night stand. The next day, they are in another town, and the next day, on the other side of the country.

The Harmonicats spend about five months of every year on the road. They come to Kelowna after a tour of Canadian fairs which included a number of open air stages and some ramblings.

This is the first time they've played on the water and they're complaining about the setting for the "Floor and Don't Floor" show.

The rain? They don't really notice it when they're on stage.

Nothing else matters, when you are on stage. We don't notice the rain or how we feel. We've gone on with 105 degree temperatures and not even noticed we were there.

For this engagement, Jerix Murad is a case in point. He sprained an ankle two days ago.

Premier Bennett is expected to participate in a cavalcade of cars heading for Summerland Monday.

The cars leave Kelowna at 7 p.m. Monday for the Social Credit nominating meeting at the Summerland Parish Hall at 8 p.m.

The Sacred candidate for the South Okanagan riding will be nominated at the meeting.

The premier is expected to stand for nomination.

The Socred nominating meeting could be regarded as a 14th anniversary, E. R. Owen, president of the South Okanagan Social Credit Constituency, said Thursday.

Mr. Owen was referring to a recent Social Credit anniversary celebration—the premier's party in Kelowna Aug. 1 marking the 14th birthday of the government.

The Summerland meeting marks another 14th birthday. It was there in 1932 the premier, then Mr. Bennett, held his first political meeting as a Social Credit candidate in the constituency.

The caravan will muster in front of Bennett's Stores Ltd., Bernard Ave.

The premier left Victoria Wednesday for the Kootenays to attend Fort Steele Days at Fernie and Cranbrook.

He will begin his election campaign Aug. 18 in Campbell River.

Sandwiched in his campaign is the PNE Aug. 20 where he will take part in the parade through Vancouver.

Premier Bennett said he will make an automobile tour of the province and will campaign by rail along the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. His campaign ends Sept. 10 in Kelowna.

Work has started on the $400,000 plan for the White Truck Manufacturing Ltd., Kelowna on Highway 97 north.

Westlake Paving of Kelowna started excavating and filling this week.

A contract was awarded Wednesday to Dominion Bridge Company Ltd., of Vancouver, for an undisclosed sum for the structural steel work. The company is to begin work Oct. 3.

General contractor is Eugene Werners of Denver, Colo.

Announcement of the new industry for Kelowna was made Aug. 1 by Norman H. Bell of Toronto, president of the White Motor Corporation of Cleveland.

The plant will employ more than 100 men and will produce three to four trucks a day at first and build to a daily average of eight or 10.

The first truck is to roll off the assembly line next March 31.

The plant will occupy 13.6 acres on the city's new industrial park area near Spall Rd. There will be two inter-connecting buildings, one story high. One wing will be 96,000 square feet of floor space for manufacturing purposes and the other will have 8,000 square feet for office use.

Word has been received by the family of the death of Dennis Schmidt, 21, who was killed in action in Vietnam while serving with the U.S. Marines.

Mr. Schmidt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schmidt, who lived in Kelowna from 1955 to 1959.

He has several relatives in Kelowna including a nephew, Mel Malacore, East Kelowna, and a grandmother, Mrs. Carol Schmidt, 1821 Stockwell Street, and an aunt, Mrs. Milly Schmidt, Kelowna.

More Big

Mostly cloudy skies are forecast for Kelowna today but the sun should come out Saturday.

A few showers are expected overnight, according to the Okanagan weather forecaster.

The weatherman predicts light winds occasionally rising to southerly 15 in the main valley tonight and Saturday.

Expected low tonight and high Saturday at Penticton are 40 and 80.

Names

A 13-year-old Kelowna boy was struck by a car while riding a bicycle near Wardlaw Ave. and Pandosy St. Thursday at 2 p.m.

Ricky Hoskins, 389 Cedar Ave., was checked at the Kelowna General Hospital and released. No charges are contemplated against driver John Bennetts of Vancouver.

Damage was estimated at $1,100 when a car driven by Brian Yerxa, Edmonston, struck a parked car owned by Lipsett Motors, 2200 Kelowna Road, St. and Leon Ave. at 11:15 p.m. Thursday. Yerxa pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to a charge of driving without due care and attention and was fined $75.

A car driven by James Bennett, 735 Elliott Ave., struck a power pole at Lake Ave. and March has been designated Red Cross month in Kelowna. The Kelowna city hall accepted a request from the Red Cross branch secretary, R. W. Corner, to allow the Red Cross to hold its campaign in March in the event a combined campaign with the Kelowna and District Community Chest during October does not work out. The Red Cross and the Community Chest earlier announced their intention to hold a combined fall campaign. The Red Cross made its request to stop any other group from canvassing during March.

A combination of 12 paddleboards, three harmonicas and a lead performer with guitar in her name and another over her shoulder, got the people off their hands and into the rhythm at the Aquatic Thursday.

Bonnie Guitar, headliner of the Regatta night show, stole the show. But three gentlemen called the Harmonicists and a troupe of Kelowna girls on paddleboards, made sure she earned the praise.

Miss Guitar took over where the wind left off Wednesday—rocking the Aquatic, but she did it with song.

She opened her act with a medley of "train" songs, swung over to a lengthy version of Honeycomb and then sparked a message to the men in the crowd of 2,000 with, If You Got Your Lie The Way You Want It, Come On Home.

The records that made her famous, Mr. Fire Eyes and Dark Moon, followed.

Jerry Murad and his Harmonicists displayed the talent that made them famous and the harmonica man. Their hit recording, Peg O' My Heart, won the crowd over completely.

Three performances by girls of the Kelowna synchronized team delighted the audience.

Their numbers included tumbling, ballerinas, windmills and astronautics on parade.

Effective lighting brought out sparkling and deep colors from the girls' costumes.

The RCAF Red Knight opened the show and was able to do a complete act. High winds Wednesday forced him to modify his program of trick flying.

In swimming, the Kilarney Club of Calgary won the 200-yard medley relay; the Capistrano Club of California won the 400-yard freestyle relay and the Penitence Swim Club took top honors in the 200-yard freestyle relay.

Regatta Commodore, Agriculture Minister J. J. Green, spoke briefly before the night show and declared the Kelowna Regatta the International Regatta officially open.

Eddie Cole and his troupe of champion divers completed the second act of the four-act drama—The Fate of Batman. Hopelessly trapped on Athens Tower 33 feet above the Ogopogo Pool, Batman, who bears a remarkable resemblance to Cole, is able to meet his death.

The show continues at the Friday night show.

Lance Harrison and his band played two hits from their latest album, The Vancouver Scene.

Today's court docket reflected the increased activity in the city during Regatta week by out-of-town visitors.

Gordon Barlow Tait, Vancouver, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor and was fined $50. He was remanded to later today when he pleaded not guilty to being a minor in a government liquor store. He was found in the City Park with four cans of beer and a cooler with 20 bottles.

Terry McKibbin, Vancouver, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place. He was drinking on the fender of a car on a downtown street.

John Cowhig of Vancouver, was arrested when he was found lying on a city street without money or identification. He was remanded to Aug. 19 or sooner pending a report from the probation officer.

John Howard Martin of Vancouver was arrested after being involved in an accident at 12:01 a.m. today at Bernard Ave. and Water St. The prosecutor said Martin stole a bicycle from a rack and rode it down Bernard Ave. where he was in collision with a car. He was taken to hospital with cut and bruises then charged with theft under $50. He pleaded guilty and was remanded to later today when he is to be in custody to Aug. 19. He said he was drunk and didn't know what he was doing.

Eric Harold Bule, Penticton, pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $25.

Ernest Wambolt, no fixed address, pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft of a wallet valued at less than $50. He was remanded to Aug. 19 and the prosecutor said he intends to show the charge and submit evidence of robbery with violence.

Charged with being intoxicated in a public place, Dennis Swite, Westbank, was fined $50. Leonard Manuel, Westbank and John Sakeld, no fixed address, $25 each. All were arrested early today.

Albert Arthur Appleyard, 1814 1/2, pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a police officer to become an investigation as a result of a false statement. He was remanded to 2 p.m. today for sentencing. He reported a break in of his rented cabin and the theft of his wife's purse which was later found in the trunk of his car.

In magistrate's court Thursday, Edward Pihella, Calgary, pleaded guilty to an unpaid driving charge and was fined $25. His licence was suspended for one month.

Laing Kills Diversion Of Water Surplus Idea

Northern Affairs Minister Laing has apparently dealt a body blow to that vociferous segment of the United States which has been advocating funneling Canadian water into that country. Speaking at a meeting of the American Bar Association in Montreal Mr. Laing said that diversion of Canadian water to the United States is "not now negotiable and I am not certain that it will ever be."

He told the American lawyers that recent proposals by some U.S. engineers to divert Canada's surplus water to arid sections of the U.S. are not acceptable to Canada and have not been endorsed by the U.S. government. "We have our own arid areas too," he said.

Mr. Laing was saying that Canada would have no part of the scheme dreamed up by a U.S. engineering firm and advocated by some Senators. He was saying that Canada, too, had its water problems and would allow none of its water to be diverted until it is certain it is not, and will never be, needed in this country.

He did not say it, of course, but he could have suggested that if American industries now or in the future, they should move to the water, not try to move the water to them.

While Mr. Laing was putting the quietus on the proposed diversion of our water supply to the United States, water was also a major concern of Congress. The American Southwestern states are trying to divert the Northwest's Columbia River water to their area. A study is to be made of this project, if the requiring legislation is passed.

On this the Portland Oregonian says:

"It does not mention the Columbia. But that is understood. A modifying feature is that the study would be made by a national water commission, not by the Bureau of Reclamation which has been a prejudiced advocate of diversion for years."

"Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, is the author of a Senate-approved bill to establishing a National Water Commission. But the study directed in that legislation would be of the entire nation. The Colorado bill singles out the Columbia diversion study for priority treatment. Sen. Jackson is not expected to agree. Even if the bill gets through the House this session, it is not likely to get through the Senate."

"With the House committee adding Texas and Kansas to the Southwest for diversion from the Columbia, and Sen. Tower of Texas announcing bills to divert both the Columbia and Missouri to Texas, the Pacific Northwest must demand a national water study to protect its interest. Let's have a look at the whole picture before letting the Southwest get its big snout in the Columbia trough."

With water becoming a major concern of the continent, one thing is certain: water will be a major subject of debate and controversy over the coming years.

Life Jackets

(Highway Safety News)

A life jacket does not guarantee safety from drowning. It is only meant as an aid to assist in prevention.

It is an offence, punishable by a fine up to $100, to operate a pleasure craft other than those solely propelled by oars or paddles, unless it is equipped with a life jacket, approved by the Department of Transport, for every person aboard.

Captain P. F. Batten, Marine Regulations Branch, Department of Transport, writes:

"Approved by the Department of Transport" means the jacket has met standards formed by a committee of the Canadian Government Specifications Board. The department's Marine Regulations Branch, the final authority, accepts these standards.

Before a life jacket is approved, every part is tested in a laboratory—covering, tapes, stitching, flotation material. If they pass the tests, the jacket undergoes performance tests before approval is granted to produce it commercially.

Only kapok and unicellular foam are accepted as suitable buoyancy media. Only the keyhole (fits over the head) and the vest (worn like a coat) styles are approved. Both are made in three sizes: adult, intermediate and child.

A life jacket should have sufficient buoyancy to hold its wearer's face clear of the water, even if unconscious, and wearability and durability. To reach these qualities and still leave the jacket comfortable enough to be worn regularly, there must be a compromise between buoyancy and wearability. CGSB's committee has recommended that the safety factors should over-ride the comfort and wearability to a certain extent. Jackets now available have sufficient buoyancy yet are not too uncomfortable to be worn for an extended time.

The average human adult body, male or female, weighs approximately seven pounds in the water. A person, exhausted or unconscious and with no life jacket attached, will fall forward and the mouth will enter the water. Drowning is inevitable. The jacket is designed to support the seven-pound body inclined vertically backward with the mouth clear of the water. Try it. Put on an approved life jacket, make sure tapes and fasteners are properly adjusted, lie face-down in the water. The additional buoyancy immediately tends to roll or pivot the body to an inclined backward position.

It must be always remembered that water disturbed by wind or rip tide will send spray across the wearer's face and he can drown. A life jacket is only an aid; not a guarantee.

Unfortunately many parents buy life jackets for their children, put them on, then assume they are perfectly safe in the water. No life jacket can substitute for parental vigilance.

A child's jacket should fit snugly around the neck. Children have a tendency to panic in a new environment, such as in the water, and try to "climb out" with violent leg and arm movements. This acts against the jacket's buoyancy and the child becomes dangerously exhausted.

Parents should teach children what a life jacket can do by taking them to shallow water by the hand until the water is chest level. Support the child, get him to lift his knees and let the jacket take over. Because the jacket tends to put the head back, children may fight against this position because they can see only the sky, and it frightens them. After doing it several times, the child soon realizes what the jacket is doing for him and he will enjoy wearing it.

There is no set answer to "What kind of jacket is best for me?" because of the difference in body structure. Life jackets are designed for the average person under average conditions. The vest style is more comfortable, and performs identically to the key-hole type.

Kapok life jackets are susceptible to rough treatment. If the vinyl inserts become split or torn, water soaks the fibers and the kapok becomes matted and heavy. Properly maintained, kapok jackets will last many years.

Unicellular foam is more durable and can withstand rougher treatment, but the rough treatment will break down the cells and the foam tends to shrink with age, this shrinking accelerated by heat.

Captain Batten advises rehearsing the tape arrangements and trying out the jacket in water to become accustomed to it. Do not abuse life jackets by using them as cushions, fenders or kneeling pads. Wearing a jacket for water skiing is not recommended because of the continual rough treatment. Stow jackets in well-ventilated, cool areas. Dry them in the open air, not on a radiator or in front of a fireplace.

Confidence in a life jacket could save a life. Trust it and respect it.

THOSE LAZY HAZY CRAZY DAYS OF SUMMER

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Heart Attack Jolt Has Double Effect

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: My 37-year-old son had a heart attack four months ago. He was hospitalized for two weeks and then kept at home for four weeks, although not in bed. He took off 25 pounds.

He is still tired after a few hours of work, sitting or standing, and must rest during the day.

He is depressed quite often as he was always quite active. The doctor said he would be all right, but to take it easy and keep his weight down. He smokes, but the doctor said he could have a cocktail during the day to pep him up. Is all this the right advice?—MRS. F. B.

In general, yes, it sounds like correct advice and care. Losing the 25 pounds certainly was wise; an occasional cocktail may well relax him, however, I would certainly prefer that he give up smoking.

Length of hospitalization and time in bed depends on many factors: Severity of the heart attack, degree of shock, response to treatment as indicated by electrocardiograms, and other things.

Since he is back at work, even though he has to rest a good deal, we can assume that he responded well to treatment. His depression and probably some of his fatigue may not be a physical result of the attack as much as psychological consequence.

A heart attack is usually an emotional as well as physical jolt. It is more of a shock for a man as young as 37, and it is not difficult to see why he feels depressed. The condition means that he must change his ways of living. He has to learn to be careful. He has to learn to be less active. He has been frightened.

Current figures show that 85 per cent of patients with heart attacks return to their former occupations, and live happy lives, once they become reconciled to the facts. Sometimes a man who loses a leg or arm becomes deeply depressed because it puts an end to the active type of life he has led. Others with the same injuries determine to make the best of it, and soon get over their depression.

If your son can view his handicap in the same way—accept it as a misfortune but one which he can learn to overcome—there is no reason why his feeling of depression will not disappear. It is, after all, only a fairly short time since his attack.

As his emotional depression lifts, I think we can expect much of his fatigue to disappear, for because depression makes anyone tired.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a rash on my hand that heals and then breaks out again. I am wondering if it is eczema. What is good for it?—F.B.G.

You might well call it eczema because that is merely a general term for various kinds of breaking out of the skin. It is absolutely futile to ask what is "good for it," until you know what kind of a rash it is, and it has to be seen to be diagnosed. So my answer has to be: See your doctor. Allowed to go on too long, some of these seemingly simple rashes can become infected and be an awful nuisance.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband passed away and since then I have had a complete female operation (hysterectomy). I am thinking of getting married again and wonder if there would be any satisfaction in intercourse for me.—MRS. S.G.

Yes, your operation will not interfere with that. You cannot of course, have any children.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you."—James 4:8

You can't keep your distance from God and expect the divine presence. Our part is to come. God's part is to meet us.

LETTER TO EDITOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following memorial was written by a long-time friend of J. P. Fergusson of Okanagan Mission, who died late last month. Mr. Fergusson was active in Boy Scout and other community affairs in Okanagan Mission.

A QUIET MAN I have been waiting for a little while for some one or persons to write a little memo to that quiet little man, who for a number of years lived on McClelland Road, in the Mission.

I call Fergie (I never knew or discovered his Christian name until I looked it up) a quiet man because this seems to cover everything he was; unobtrusive, probably would sound better. This man lived in a community that thought a great deal of him; but like most Englishmen (God bless us) believed in keeping very much to himself—maybe lots of people around didn't know that Fergie was a very ardent worker and a very good community-minded citizen.

Nothing was too much for him, if he was able to do it. As an amateur bookkeeper and local chairman for cub and scout movement, Fergie was there, anything to do with the Hall at Mission—Well Fergie would do it—and he would to the best of his ability, and his detailed work and thoroughness gave one the impression that he knew what he was about.

Eighty-three was his age (he had me fooled and everyone else—before his last illness, he could have passed for 60). Not knowing him as a younger man, but listening to him talk gave me the impression that he was an ardent cricketer and soccer player. Also I loved to talk of the war and the Blitz in London; apparently he worked for the Admiralty all during the second war—as you all know. He also serves who stands and waits. I believe it was often Fergie's secret wish that he could have served directly, his age however was against him.

Well now he's gone, I shall miss his familiar little foot from his English car, as he passed my door; I shall miss his gentle arguments, and I know all people who worked with him will miss his good co-operation. The last time I saw him in hospital he did say, "Thank you very much for taking time out to come and see me—I shan't forget you."

Well, that goes double to Fergie, because I shan't forget you either nor will a lot more of your friends.

A FRIEND.

Personally Speaking

By VEN. D. S. CATCHPOLE, B.A., D.D.

THE FORGOTTEN PEOPLE

By the time this column appears in print, all on the Labor Front may be peaceful and calm. The noise of industry will, I trust, be going at the top of its form and union and management will be making happy sounds indicating love and kindness.

I trust—I say—but I am afraid that I am a trifle pessimistic. It always intrigues me that when the press or other media of information talks about this matter, they always speak of Labor and Management. No one ever seems to remember that there is another group involved and this is sometimes, if not always, a group to be reckoned with as a deciding factor. I am old enough to remember that the General Strike in England was broken by the general populace which rose up in wrath and drove the buses and carried the mail and so on.

It could happen again. I fancy that the populace of a city might well get fed to the teeth with the accumulation of garbage and the ruin of parks. The people of the country could rise in rebellion against those who strike the air lines or the railways.

The people of the country like to eat and they could rise in anger against those who hinder them from eating. It is not amusing to this town when its main industry is struck, and especially when it appears to the lay observer that it is struck because of the whim of a labor organizer who has to justify his existence somehow by raising a stink in the particular back yard where he flourishes.

No one wants people to be adequately paid more than I do. No one despises the greed which is not entirely absent from certain business enterprises more than I do. However, I also (being one of them) have some sympathy for the consumer the guy in the middle who is constantly being made the scapegoat for these antagonistic forces, each out to feather its own particular nest with a good deal more than a little down. Of course, both strikers and struck are also among this middle group too, but I sometimes feel that both of these are better off than the guy in the middle.

I do not find it a bit amusing to discover that, for example, two bars of soap which a few weeks before were priced at 47 cents now rate at 53 cents. I think that six cents is a bit steep by way of increase, and no explanation is ever given as to why the increase came about; but it is my bet that it is due to either one of two causes: the makers, already very wealthy, want to increase their wealth; or their firm has been struck and they have had to raise wages and so, the forgotten people pay six cents more for the package deal.

Not much, but apply this to practically everything in sight on the counters and you will find that it is a very serious business indeed.

Now, we don't mind going along with the game if we are also being paid higher, and higher salaries or wages; but the forgotten people who are more forgotten if this is possible (and one is reminded in "Animal Farm" of those who were all equal but some were more equal than others) are those on set incomes, pensions, or annuities. Do the Unions and the Associations of manufacturers ever think of these people? Does anyone care whether they live or die?

I know that there are many such who go about the supermarkets picking up the very cheapest of foods and this is something that the man who gathers in the profits and who cuts coupons on his bonds does not, and the people who get 12 to 15 to 20 dollars for a regular working day do not, have to do. They can buy their steaks and have nice outdoor places to cook them and wash them down with something more than Diet-Cola.

Sometimes when they are doing these comfortable things, I hope they will give a thought to the pensioners of Her Majesty's government, men who fought in wars to secure freedom and justice, people on Burnt Out allowances, women left with hardly anything by way of cash on which to live: think of these my buckoes with your signs round your necks and think of these, ye men of substance who require special employees to keep your investments in order!

In short, take a little time every day to remember the forgotten people and then perhaps by a supreme effort we may avoid strikes and all the misery and bitterness which they engender. I have reason to hope. I shall be on pension in a year or so and I shall join the ranks of the Forgotten People.

I have spoken. Let the paid agitators begin to scream and the righteous men of money express their horror! Bah!

Scots Squeal At Pipes Tax

WASHINGTON (CP)—A shrill campaign to abolish the United States tariff on bagpipes has been launched by the Washington Scottish pipe band.

It threw its weight behind Bill No. 1035 in the House of Representatives in an "effort to head off growing tensions within the piping community which could explode at any moment into a bombastic series of mass demonstrations and pipe-ins on a nation-wide scale." The bill would remove the tariff.

Pipers, said a band statement, are "one of the most dissatisfied minority groups in the country." It warned that, faced with indifference by the American people and Congress, "the pipe is likely to turn to his most effective weapon—his bagpipe—thereby escalating formerly peaceful expressions of opinion into a full struggle for total victory against the reactionary forces of the high-tariff lobby."

CANADA'S STORY

A Snide Remark Cost Him Fortune

By BOB BOWMAN

Prejudice against Indians cost Robert Henderson, originally of Nova Scotia, a fortune from the discovery of gold. Henderson was the son of a Nova Scotian lighthouse keeper, and even as a small boy his great ambition was to find gold. He spent 23 years looking for it, in Nova Scotia, New Zealand, Australia, Colorado, Alaska, and the Yukon.

Early in August, 1896, Henderson's luck changed. In one of the creeks running into the Yukon River, he and four other men panned gold worth $750. Henderson called the place "Goldbottom" and went to a nearby settlement to register the claim and buy supplies. It was the custom in those days not to keep gold discoveries a secret, but to tell others. On the way back to Goldbottom Henderson met George Washington Carmack, a former American who wanted to become an Indian, and who was known as "Swish George." Henderson told Carmack about the gold along Goldbottom Creek, but urged him not to bring any of his Indian friends because he did not want "any damned Indians" around.

Carmack did take two of his friends, Tagish Charlie and Skookum Jim, to Goldbottom but did not stay when Henderson refused to let them have any tobacco although they offered to pay for it. On Aug. 11, 1896, they were returning to their original base when they decided to look for gold along Rabbit Creek. They found four dollars' worth in their first pan. Later Carmack said that he found a piece of gold the size of his thumb. They staked claims and rushed to Constantinople's Post 40 Mile Creek to record them. On the way Carmack told everyone he met about the discovery, but they did not believe him until he poured gold dust from an empty shot-gun shell. Then the rush started that became the Klondike gold rush, the most exciting in the world. Rabbit Creek became "Bonanza" and another creek nearby became equally famous "Eldorado." Huge fortunes were made.

However, Carmack did not tell Henderson about the discovery because he had insulted his Indian friends. Henderson, who had struggled for so many years, and who was really responsible for Carmack's success, finally received a pension of $200 a month from the government. He should have been a millionaire.

The first organized Indian resistance to white colonization in New England was put to an end 280 years ago today—in 1676—when the Indian chief Metacomb, known to the English as King Philip, was killed in Rhode Island. Philip was chief sachem of the Wampanoag Indians in America, and came to feel the English settlers' ever more numerous and powerful, were meddling in the Indian band's internal affairs. When the English executed three Wampanoags in 1674, the band plotted vengeance. Massacres of whites began the following year. But the Indian rebels were too poor and too few in number, and the uprising waned within a year. Philip was betrayed, and his death marked the end of the struggle in southern New England.

New Minister Settles In

WINFIELD — Rev. Jim Wannop, the new minister of the United Church of Winfield, Okanagan Centre and Oyama, has arrived in the district and started his duties on Aug. 1.

Rev. and Mrs. Wannop and their family, a boy aged 15 and two girls aged 10 and 13, have taken up residence in the house formerly owned by the late Ted Nuyens at Okanagan Centre.

Prior to coming to Winfield, Rev. Wannop was minister at Ashmont, Alta., for six years and before that he spent two years on Quadra Island, working with the Indians.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. each Sunday in the Winfield United Church for the rest of the summer and will be a combined service for the congregations from Oyama and Winfield.

OBITUARY

MRS. ALBERT WEST

A long-time resident of Peachland, Annie Isabel West died Aug. 7 in Kelowna General Hospital in her 69th year. Mrs. West, who arrived in Canada from England in 1912, had lived in Peachland for the last 44 years.

Mrs. West was a charter member and life member of the Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 69, Royal Canadian Legion, an active member of the Women's Auxiliary to St. Margaret's Anglican Church, and a long-time member of the Peachland Women's Institute.

She is survived by her husband Albert, two sons, William Fullett of Portland, Ore. and Robert West of North Vancouver and six grandsons. She was predeceased in 1948 by another son Ronald Fullett.

Funeral service was held from St. Margaret's Anglican Church, Peachland, Tuesday, Rev. Norman Tanne of Summerland officiating. Interment was in the Peachland Cemetery. Clark and Dixon funeral directors of Kelowna were in charge of arrangements.

Pay Booster For Okanagan

Some 3,000 fruit and vegetable workers in the Okanagan have voted 84 per cent in favor of a new two-year contract giving pay raises to unskilled, skilled and piecework workers. It was announced today in Penticton.

James Currie, business agent for local 1572 of the B.C. Interior Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union, said the new agreement with the Federated Suppliers Association gives unskilled male workers a pay list of about 15 per cent on rates ranging from $1.62 to $1.88 an hour.

Skilled workers will get a 20 per cent boost on the minimum hourly rate of $1.74 while the minimum picking rates for female workers will increase to $1.31 from $1.09 an hour.

Piecework rates, covering about 30 different job categories, will be increased eight per cent.

Water Show Due After Kal Swim

A giant water show will highlight the finish line attraction for the 1966 Kalamalka Lake Marathon Swim Aug. 21. Races, pajama races, canoe tilting, canoe filling, log rolling as well as numerous other skill and novelty events will be staged. Jeff Davidson, chairman of the Jaycee committee responsible for finish line activities, said the North Vancouver Swim Club and the Vernon Kokanee Swim Club have agreed to participate. Invitations have also been sent to the Kelowna and Salmon Arm Swim Clubs.

Gerry Goudge, the pool supervisor at the recreation centre, will assist in the organization of this major event. Mr. Goudge stated that the swimmers will be in Vernon as part of an inter-club competition on Saturday, and the events would then be moved to Kal Lake for Sunday.

Dennis Murdock, a 26-year-old school teacher from Enderby, was the first confirmed entry in the Marathon Swim.

Mr. Murdock is currently a swim instructor at the Vernon Cadet Camp, and has made two previous attempts to win this race. In 1964 he was forced to drop out of the race because of a severe cramp, and in 1965 he placed seventh. It is felt that Mr. Murdock will be a real threat this year, as he has spent much time training for this event.

KELOWNA GIRL

The second entry is a charming 24-year-old public health nurse from Kelowna. Fran Caldwell first became interested in marathon swimming events in 1954 when Marilyn Bell swam Lake Ontario. In 1959 she swam the 15 miles across Christina Lake, and she has entered the Kal Lake Marathon Swim on two previous occasions. Miss Caldwell was the first woman to cross the finish line on both occasions. In 1964 she placed third and in 1965 placed fourth in overall competition.

John Laird, chairman of the Kal Lake Marathon Swim committee stated that the Jaycees are making every effort to contact Robert Cossette in an effort to have him enter the marathon swim. Mr. Cossette is a 36-year-old Chicoutimi, Que. resident who is currently in Vancouver to train for an attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Mr. Cossette is partially crippled as a result of an attack of polio some years ago. In 1964 he swam the English Channel. Final arrangements are being made for the street barbecues, August 19 and 20, as well as the giant street dance on Saturday night.

Jim Laughlin, chairman of the finance committee, has announced that the Kalamalka Lake Marathon Swim booster button will be available early next week. In previous years, a grant from the city of Vernon or the Vernon Chamber of Commerce has assisted in the financing of this event.

This year, the Jaycees assumed the responsibility of sponsoring this event, even without a grant of any nature, as they felt that this event should not be dropped. The Kalamalka Lake Marathon Swim is Western Canada's only marathon swim event, and has proven to be a major attraction.

PRESENTATION OF CIVIC SPOONS AT THE IODE RECEPTION

The Dr. Knox Chapter IODE held a delightful reception at the Abbott St. home of Mr. and Mrs. Max de Puyffer on Thursday morning. Receiving the guests were the Regent, Miss Rosemary King, and the hostess, Mrs. Max de Puyffer, and convening the party were Mrs. George Friend, Mrs. Douglas Kerr, Mrs. W. T. J. Bulman and Mrs. Peggy Lee. Presiding at the pretty tea table set in the dining room were Mrs. J. B. Feeney, member of the National Council IODE from Penikese, and Mrs. R. F. Parkinson, and serving the guests who were seated on the lovely lakeshore lawn, surrounded by spectacularly beautiful and colorful flower beds, were Mrs. Charles D. Buckland, Mrs. C. A. Bettman, Mrs. Madeline Rolph and Mrs.

Nancy Mackenzie. Special guests at the party included Regatta Chairman Murray Joyce and Mrs. Joyce, the nine Lady-of-the-Lake candidates, Mrs. Ian Collinson, president of the Regatta and Aquatic Auxiliary, Mrs. J. B. Feeney of Penikese, Mrs. R. F. Parkinson, and the three judges, Mrs. P. M. Mahoney, Pat Slattery of Vancouver, and Mrs. Del Jones of Spokane. During the party Mrs. Parkinson presented a silver spoon with the Kelowna crest to each of the nine contestants and congratulated them on behalf of the Mayor. In the picture above—she is shown in the foreground presenting the first spoon to Miss Lions, Audrey Gibbons, while the eight other contestants, seated in the background, smilingly await their turns.

ANN LANDERS

An Orchid Corsage Is A Lovely Gift

Dear Ann Landers: Mom had a birthday yesterday and my brother and I put our money together and bought her a beautiful orchid. (I am 14 and my brother is 12.)

When mom came home the box with the orchid in it was on her dinner plate. We both stood in the doorway watching her because we thought we would see her face light up with joy. Instead she hollered, "You kids must be crazy to spend money on such foolishness. Where in the world am I going to wear this orchid? To the supermarket?"

My brother and I were so disappointed we nearly cried. We happen to know that mom has never had an orchid corsage in her whole life and we wanted to give her one.

Do you think we were foolish? Please print our letter and your answer.—WRONG GIFT.

Dear Brother and Sister: The gift was lovely, and I'm sure deep down your mother appreciated it. But she also is a very practical person and when she saw the orchid she thought of a few things she needed more—probably things for you kids.

Show her this column and I'll bet she will admit I am right. You sound like wonderful children. Your mother should be terribly proud of you, and I'm sure she is.

Dear Ann: I am a 40-year-old woman who feels as if she is the next thing to a three-headed freak in a circus. Why? Because I do not drive a car.

My children make me feel guilty because I can't drive to music lessons, scout meetings, downtown movies and to the homes of friends who have swimming pools.

I took driver training a few years ago but I was sick with fright and had to go on tranquilizers. Last night my husband said, "You can learn to drive if you set your mind to it. I know dozens of morons who drive." Is he right? Please comment.—BRANLEN WIFE.

Dear Wife: Your husband's estimate is low. If you don't believe me talk to any traffic officer.

You probably have a psychological block caused by a long forgotten incident which terrified you early in your life.

Your problem has nothing to do with your I.Q.—it is emotional. So stop feeling inferior!

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who was mad at her husband because he got to the paper first and drew moustaches on all the faces and put pipes in all the mouths.

You said to buy two papers. Why cater to the idiot? Wouldn't it be better to buy the big baby coloring book and a set of crayons?

And now, here's my problem: My old man divides our paper when it comes. He takes Ann Landers and the financial page. The idea is that we are supposed to trade. But we never get that far. He finishes first and puts the paper over his face and falls asleep. I'm afraid to take the paper off his face because he wakes up and gets mad.

So—Ann Landers, what's the solution?—HALVESIES

Dear Halvesies: The solution is the same as for the creep who draws the moustaches and pipes. Buy two papers—one to read and one for Sleeping Beauty to snooze under.

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe a lot of smart people write you, but you hear from a lot of nuts, too. Witness that letter from the wife who complained because her husband complimented her in front of company. If she lives in Memphis, ask her to send her complimentary husband to me and I'll let her have my nitwit.

Kelly and I have been married for 24 years and if he ever told me I looked nice, or that a meal was good, I'd die of shock. I could shave my head and put a ring in my nose and he wouldn't notice.

Just to test him I once put a bandage around my head and he didn't say a word. Finally I asked him if he wanted to know why my head was bandaged. He said he thought it was a new hair style.

Kelly doesn't drink, smoke, gamble, cheat, swear, stay out at night or blow his pay check. I honestly think I'd let him have any of these vices in exchange for a few compliments now and then. Am I crazy?—TENNESSEE WIFE

Dear Wife: It isn't what a man says that counts but how he treats a woman. And I'd say your man treats you pretty good. Incidentally, do you ever compliment HIM? One hand does wash the other.

RUTLAND ITEMS

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jorsvik, from Cold Lake, Alta., are Sgt. Terrance Billingham, Mrs. Billingham and their son Michael. The family has recently returned from Europe, where Sgt. Billingham has completed a tour of duty with the RCAF, in France and Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Walker of Kenora, Ont., are guests of Mrs. Walker's aunt, Mrs. E. S. Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. Cler Dumont returned recently from a visit to Quebec and to New Brunswick, where they visited Mr. Dumont's parents and other relatives. They were accompanied on the journey by Mrs. Dumont's brother, Bruce McKinley.

Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Bourgeois and their three children, from Coquitlam, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Drinkwater, Joe Rich Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Holcien returned recently from Vancouver, where they had gone to attend the funeral of Mr. Holcien's brother Levander Holcien. They were accompanied on the return trip by Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Holcien of Melfort, Sask. While in the district the latter will visit Mrs. Linsey Swanson, a sister of Mrs. Holcien, in Winfield, before returning to Melfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horning of Grayson, Sask., are visitors at the home of the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Flegel. Also visiting the Flegel home is a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Huddle of Regina, Sask.

The ladies of the Women's Association of the Rutland United Church took charge of the catering on Monday for the visiting boys' band from Edmonton, here for the Regatta. The meals were served in the Kelowna United Church, about 100, including their adult leaders, were in the group.

Inadvertently omitted from the report of the recent Women's Institute Flower Show were the names of the winners of the draws held in connection with the event. Mrs. Marge Showler was winner of the shampoo and hair set and also won the door prize, a vase. The cake was won by Mrs. Wilma Pumphrey, who correctly guessed the weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Greig and family returned home from Vancouver last weekend after attending the wedding of their daughter Valerie Ann to Bruce Aitken of Vancouver. The young couple will make their home in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rieger and family have returned home from a trip to Saskatchewan, where they visited relatives and friends in the Regina district.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bond, and daughter Mary and sons Cliff and David, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Angus Greig. The Bonds were residents of the Rutland district some 17 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hess and family of Prince George, former Rutland residents, are visiting Mr. Hess's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hess. Mrs. Hess Jr. suffered the loss of her father, the late Arnold Charles Hagen, who passed away on August 4 at the Kelowna hospital at the age of 81.

Mrs. Magnus Pearson of Edmonton is visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Hood. Also visiting is Mrs. Hood's brother, William Pearson, of the Alberta capital city.

Mrs. Laura Blackstock, of Edmonton, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Hood, Fraser Rd.

Pot Luck Supper Enjoyed At Kalmor Park Beach

LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS—Many VLA families enjoyed the annual pot-luck supper at Kalmor Park Beach on Sunday afternoon. This marked the end of the summer Red Cross swimming lessons, which were sponsored by the Lakeview Heights Recreation Commission, for the tenth year.

Fred Mortimer, commission chairman, thanked the swimming instructress Margaret Dooley and her assistant Marla Crittenden and Mrs. Hugh McCarty who presented with a bouquet of assorted roses and the thanks of everyone concerned for her work as "beach coordinator". Swimming demonstrations by the little swimmers were arranged and some amusing races in which the more venturesome parents showed their swimming prowess or lack of it. Perhaps the most amusing was the greased water-melon race, in which the "Mums" beat the intermediate daughters.

The commission would like to thank Bill Treadgold for coming from Kelowna with his boat to give boat rides, also Bill Darroch who took some of the youngsters water skiing, also Eric Brown. They were all kept busy for the whole afternoon.

After a splendid supper the commission provided ice cream for everyone and marshmallows to roast at the bonfires. Badges were presented to the children who successfully passed their swimming tests and the Red Cross examiner is expected Wednesday evening to give the junior, intermediate and senior tests.

Mr. and Mrs. James Goodridge stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Greenwood for a few days recently. Mr. and Mrs.

BEV STIRLING OF RED DEER
record breaking performance

One Record Equalled At Regatta Swimming Events

One Canadian record was equalled and six meet records broken in the first day of Regatta swimming competitions at Ogopogo Pool, Thursday.

Bev Stirling of the Red Deer Swim Club in Red Deer was the young lass to equal the Canadian record in the girls' 11-12, 100 yard breaststroke. Bev covered the distance in a time of one minute, 23.8 seconds, to beat Rhonda Ross of Trail by one full second. The Canadian record is held by Mary Pat Punfrey of Victoria Olympians.

The first record of the day was established by Roel Schootman of the Canadian Dolphins Swim Club. Roel glided through the water in one minute, one second to set a mark in the second to set a mark in the men's open 100 yard backstroke. Bruce Colwell, who formerly held the record of one minute, three seconds, finished second to Schootman.

Julie Darlington of the Wenatchee Blue Marlins shattered the existing record in the women's 15-16, 200 yard freestyle. Julie swam the distance in two minutes, 26 seconds to better the old record held by Debbie Miller of Penticton by 12.9 seconds.

A Canadian Dolphins, Mike Carter gave his club a second record-breaking performance in the boys' 11-12, 100 yard breaststroke. Formerly held by Roy Clark of the Spokane Athletic Club, Carter covered the distance in one minute, 18.7 seconds. Clark's record which was set in 1955 was one minute, 21.5 seconds.

Two Calgary swimmers swam through Ogopogo waters for records Thursday.

Mike Whitaker of the Calgary Barracudas Swim Club established a record in the boys' 13-14 breaststroke over a distance of 100 yards. Mike's record will stand at one minute, 11.6 seconds. The old mark of one minute, 14.2 seconds was set by Vito Dunford of the Victoria YMCA in 1952. Mike Foster of Calgary Killarney Swim Club lowered the men's open breaststroke record over 100 yards by 2.5 seconds. The old mark of one minute, 12.5 seconds was set in 1961 by Phil Welch of Y Kings Swim Club.

Roz Metcalfe rounded out the record breaking for the day by setting a record in the open women's half-mile swim. Roz finished the gruelling race in 11 minutes, 27.5 seconds to better a record set by Sharon Pearce in 1963. The old record was 11 minutes, 31.6 seconds.

Thursday was not an especially good day for the Kelowna Ogopogo Swim Club. Jill Brown turned in the best performance in the girls' 13-14, 100 yard backstroke. Jill finished second in the event behind Karen Barmid of the Wenatchee Blue Marlins. Jill's time was one minute, 20.8 seconds, while the winner turned

The only other high finish record by the Kelowna club was garnered by David Hay in the men's open 200 yard freestyle event. David finished third in the race, 10 seconds behind the winner John Pryde of the Alberni Valley Swim Club.

Swimming championships continued until 8 p.m. Thursday and again got underway first thing this morning with the running of heats. Final events Friday are scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m.

Pirates Up League Lead

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell didn't have too much pull with New York Mets until he stopped trying to.

The Pittsburgh Pirates left fielder, who bats left-handed, tried to pull the ball the first two times he faced New York southpaw Rob Gardner Thursday night. He grounded out both times.

Then in ninth inning, after Roberto Clemente had singled in a run to tie the game 5-5, Stargell came up again.

Not trying to pull it, Stargell did just that, whacking Gardner's first pitch into the right field stands for his 26th homer and a 7-5 victory, which increased the Pirates' National League lead to two games over the San Francisco Giants.

In the only other National League game, St. Louis Cardinals beat Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 and Chicago Cubs nipped Houston Astros 9-8 in 11 innings in the first game of a double-header. Houston was leading 8-5 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when it was suspended.

RUINS TERRY'S DEBUT

The Pirates' victory ruined NL debut of Ralph Terry, acquired by the Mets from Kansas City Athletics. The veteran right-hander started and went 5½ innings, giving up five hits and three runs and would have been the winner if the Mets could have held the lead, which Ken Boyer helped build with four hits.

Pitcher Al Jackson drove home the tie breaking run with a triple in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia's Richie Allen of the Phillies had tied it 1-1 with his 26th homer in the seventh.

Randy Hundley hit a single, double, triple and homer and Lee Thomas' pinch-hit single drove in the winning run for the Cubs. The second game at Chicago was called at 6:30 p.m. EDT.

To assure both teams of catching flights for the West Coast and will be completed when the Cubs play in Houston Aug. 26.

BUFFEY TO STAY ON TORONTO (CP)—Vern

Bufey, an eight-year veteran referee who resigned during last spring's Stanley Cup final, has decided to return to the NHL's officiating staff. Scotty Morrison, National Hockey League referee-in-chief, said Thursday.

CALGARIANS WIN

CALGARY (CP)—Pete Savinkoff struck out 16 batters and gave up only one hit Thursday as Calgary swamped Portage la Prairie, Man. 7-0 in the first game of the Canadian fastball softball championships.

over New York Yankees. A wet ball and some puddles in the Yankee Stadium outfield made it easy.

The Orioles had jumped on Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre for three runs in the first inning after the start of the game was delayed an hour by rain. Brooks Robinson was on first base with two out in the third. Then Powell singled to left and Robinson headed for third.

"I was going to stop there," Robinson said later. "Then I saw Hector Lopez miss the ball, so I kept going."

When Lopez finally fished the ball out of the puddles in left field and relayed it home, the wet ball squirted past catcher Jake Gibbs. Powell, troubled by a muscle spasm in his right leg, was still at first when Stottle-myre, backing up the play, went after the loose ball.

Powell slid into second as Stottlemyre threw high, the wet ball sailing into swampy centre field. There Tom Tresh fought a losing battle with the moisture while Powell lumbered around third and made it home.

Powell left the game after scoring and his replacement, Sam Bowens, delivered the 11th inning single that scored Luis Aparicio with the winning run for the Orioles.

In other American League action, Chicago White Sox won their seventh straight, whipping Kansas City Athletics 10-9. Boston Red Sox battered Cleveland Indians 13-3 and Minnesota Twins trimmed California Angels 4-3.

Don Buford drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double and John Romano hit his 13th homer of the season for Chicago's big hits. Buford also swiped home on the front end of a double steal.

Tony Conigliaro led the Red Sox' assault against Cleveland, driving in five runs with two singles a double and his 21st homer. He scored four times. George Scott also hit a two-run homer for Boston.

Harmon Killebrew, who had homered earlier, drove pinch runner Bob Allison home with the winning run in the ninth, as Minnesota topped California.

The Twins' victory over the Angels and the White Sox' triumph against Kansas City left Minnesota, California and Chicago tied for fourth place in the American League.

Hole In Roughies Defence Could Lead To Troubles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders, atop the Western Football Conference after two games, have a hole in the defensive backfield and are approaching tonight's game against British Columbia with caution.

Defensive back Larry Dumelle, who has an ankle injury, will be replaced by Ted Dushinski, a Canadian in his second year with the club.

In other action, Winnipeg Blue Bombers are in Edmonton today for a return engagement with the Eskimos and Calgary Stampeders are in Hamilton against the Tiger-Cats Saturday.

The Calgary-Hamilton game will be televised nationally by the CBC at 8 p.m. EDT. The B.C.-Saskatchewan game will be televised on the CTV western network at 8 p.m. Cst with Edmonton blacked out. The Montreal - Toronto game will be shown on the CTV eastern network.

Coach Eagle Kees, referring to Lions' 27-7 loss to Edmonton Monday, says he expects his team to play "a lot better than they did."

Fullback George Reed says although the Roughies' beat Winnipeg Sunday the team made some mistakes and the players aren't satisfied.

Lions fullback Bill Munsey is a doubtful starter because of an ankle sprained in the Edmonton game. Halfback Willie Fleming is nursing a sprained toe but will start.

USE BEAUMONT?

Neal Beaumont will start at fullback if Munsey doesn't play, but Roy (Rocky) Cameron also is expected to see action.

Neither Winnipeg nor Edmonton is planning major lineup changes.

Eskimos have brought in two new import tackles, journeyman Ed Husemann and rookie Sheldon Moomaw, a 260-pounder cut by Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League.

Moomaw is likely to sit out the game in favor of Husemann, 33, picked up from Houston Oilers of the American Football League. He stands six-foot-two and weighs 240 pounds.

The Eskis have a vacancy at defensive tackle because rookie Ken Perkins has been placed on the injured reserve list along with Art Johnson, a defensive back.

Official Protest Gives Swimmer Medallion

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Royalty, a cow, a protest and a disqualification got into the act at the British Empire Games Thursday.

The official protest promoted a Canadian athlete to a third-place bronze medal instead of an also-ran fourth.

And the 108-strong Canadian team, swinging along at a clip of almost two gold medals a day since athletes of 34 countries started this Commonwealth sports binge last Friday, was handed a gold on a platter.

That came in the men's 440-yard medley relay when two Australian swimmers, en route to a world record, broke from the blocks in the last two legs before their predecessors touched.

Two Australian judges called them on it and the Canadian quartet—certain of at least a second-place silver—got the gold.

A few hours later, Toronto's Dave Steen won the shot-put with a toss of 61 feet eight inches—more than two feet beyond the Games record of 59-4 set in 1962 by Dr. Martyn Lucking of England.

Les Mills of New Zealand, the discus gold medal winner, took the silver medal with 60-7/4.

The men's 440-yard freestyle relay team picked up a silver behind Australia, a world record-breaking winner in 3:35.6. The Canadian clocking was 3:42.3.

The Canadian track and field team also won four bronze medals, the swimmers got a bronze and two more bronzes were won by Beverly Boys of Pickering, Ont., in the high tower diving and Dr. Jules Sobrian of Omeke, Ont., in the 22-calibre rapid fire competition.

GETS LICENSED

Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association heavy-weight champion, was given the green light Thursday to fight in New York, setting up a possible showdown match with Cassius Clay. "We could settle up all this talk about who's champion," said Clay in Chicago. "That would be nice. Terrell was granted a licence to fight in New York by the state athletic commission, a three-man group which unanimously approved George A. Hamid Jr. as his manager. Hamid is part owner of the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

Canada Wins Nine Medals

Canada, with nine medals for the day, had a total of 38 overall. This showing easily was the best of the post-war era with the exception of the Vancouver Games in 1954.

Prince Philip, Prince Charles and Princess Anne inadvertently started a chain of events that made the 22-mile, 385-yard marathon memorable.

GOT FOULED UP
The hero of the piece was Scotsman Jim Alder who got all fouled up at the tail-end of the course because Prince Philip wanted to watch the finish from the royal box.

But Prince Philip's arrival time unfortunately coincided, almost to the minute, with that of the two leaders—Alder and Englishman Bill Adcock.

Prince Philip just made it into the stadium before the runners. But he didn't know the confusion his arrival had created outside.

Spectators and cars were all over the place. Alder had a 70-yard lead and, somehow or other, he made the wrong turn and was negotiating a zig-zag course for the swimming pool.

He turned around to see Adcock striding into the stadium for the last 220 yards. He gave chase, caught the faltering Englishman about 100 yards from home and ended with a 12-yard margin of victory.

The cow entered the picture when the two leaders were pounding along about five miles from the stadium on their homeward journey. Crowds were lined up on both sides of the narrow street and suddenly the animal appeared from somewhere among the spectators.

It casually walked across the road just yards in front of the runners.

The switch of medal winners came in the men's 440-yard final won by Trinidad's Wendell Motley, who broke the Games record with a clocking of 45.2 seconds.

Kent Bernard of Trinidad was the silver medalist, but when the third-place bronze went to a Kenyan, Canadian officials raised a howl.

Sure enough, photographs of the race showed Don Domansky of Port Arthur, Ont., in third place instead of Danial Rudisha of Kenya. The medal was given to Domansky.

ALSO COLLECT BRONZE
Other Canadian bronze medal winners in track and field were George Puce of Toronto in the men's shot-put with a toss of 56-23/4; Irene Piotrowski of Vancouver in the women's 220-yard dash with a time of 23.9 seconds and Judy Dahlgren, 17, also of Vancouver, in the women's javelin with a throw of 156-5, her personal best.

Tom Arusoo of Montreal won the bronze in the men's 200-yard butterfly swimming final.

Jerome's Leg Packs Up Again

Harry Jerome of Vancouver was seventh in the 220-yard dash, Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., fifth in the 440-yard final and Dave Bailey of Toronto, Canada's only four-minute miler, sprawled headlong in a qualifying heat of the mile and finished sixth in 4:12.2. He didn't qualify, but team-mate Ergas Leps of Toronto did in 4:09.1.

Jerome, the 100-yard gold medalist, pulled a muscle in his left leg, the one he was operated on four years ago but team physician Dr. Phil Edwards of Montreal said the injury was not serious.

Sam Allotey of Ghana won the furlong in 20.7 seconds. Diane Burge of Australia, the women's 100 winner, completed a double in the 220 with a time of 23.8.

TOOK HOME GAMES
The other track and field gold medal winners were Dave Hemmery of England, who took the 129-yard hurdles in 14.1 seconds; Sam Igun of Nigeria in the men's triple jump with a Games record leap of 53-9/4, and Margaret Parker of Australia in the women's javelin with a toss of 168-7.

In the mile heats, Kipchoke Keino of Kenya, set a Games record of 3:57.4. Keino earlier won the three-mile gold.

In the men's 220-yard butterfly swimming final, Dave Gerard gave New Zealand its first Games swimming title since 1954.

England's Diane Harris won the women's 110-yard breaststroke crown, and Brian Phelps and Joy Newman gave England the men's and women's tower diving titles. Phelps won the springboard last week.

Ralph Cooperman retained his individual sabre title, to make it seven out of eight fencing golds for England.

CPO Tony Clark won the 22-calibre pistol silhouette to give England two out of the four shooting titles decided so far.

Mohammed Nazir, 16, of Pakistan, won the flyweight wrestling gold medal.

High Winds Take Leave Skiers Get Back to Work

The Pacific Northwest Water Skiing Championships got down to business Thursday and wind-ed nine champions in various divisions.

The water skiing was seriously hampered on Wednesday with high winds and eventually had to be postponed until Thursday. With Thursday dawnning bright and sunny they were back in business.

One performer who was particularly back in the swing of things was George Athans of Kelowna, one of the best junior water skiers in the country. George picked up where he left off Wednesday and added two more championships to the tricks event he won on Wednesday.

Thursday George skied to victory in the open boys' slalom event and the Okanagan closed slalom.

Thursday's events started out with Rudy Tuschek of Vancouver running away with the senior men's open trick skiing title. Rudy piled up 889.6 points to far outdistance Fred Borgerson of Lake Cowichan who came in second with 669.9 points. Kelowna's Wally Geibelhaus was third.

Tracy Tipton of Lake Cowichan piled up a commanding lead in his first tricks to win the men's open trick skiing. Tipton piled up 1126.9 points as compared to 714.5 for second place John Godfrey of Vancouver. Another Vancouver skier, Ken Mathie, placed third with 624.3 points.

Then George Athans took to the water and when he was finished had walked away with the boys' open slalom event. George, out from the coast, with confidence and ran up 1,100 points. Rex Order of Vancouver and Al Hoeking of Victoria who finished second and third respectively hadn't a chance.

The brothers Athans dominated the Okanagan closed slalom runs with George finishing first with 1,000 points and Greg finishing second with 666.7 points. Bill Wilson, another Kelowna skier came in third.

Three prairie girls took top honors in the girls' open slalom event.

Coleen Sproule of Calgary picked up 1,000 points to finish in first place. Janice Oberg also piled up 1,000 points but was dropped to second place. Coleen Sproule's sister, Cathy, came in third in the event.

Just as three prairie girls dominated the girls' slalom, three coast women dominated the women's slalom event.

Janet Lecky of Vancouver swept to victory in the event picking up 1,000 points. The nearest second place Elaine Barnes of New Westminster came close to Lecky with 963 points. Taking third spot was Rachel Rout of West Vancouver. Senior men's slalom event took had a B.C. flavor in the winners' circle.

Wally Geibelhaus of Kelowna came out on top picking up 1,000 points to edge Rudy Tuschek of Vancouver. Tuschek finished with 900 points. Just behind Tuschek was Bruce McDonald of Vancouver who finished with 866.67 points.

The open men's slalom had an American flavor with first and third place being won by skiers from south of the border.

Richard Dawson of Everett, Wash., picked up 1,000 points in winning the event. Taking second place was Ken Matheson of Vancouver. John Goodman of Bellingham finished third by winning 689.66 points.

In the last skiing event of the day Harold Naka of Westbank won the Okanagan closed slalom event. Harold managed to pick up 172.41 points to finish 34.48 points ahead of second place Harrie Black of Kelowna. Taking third spot was another Kelowna skier, Bert Wengerter.

Today, the final event in the Pacific Northwest Skiing Championships, the ski jumping holds court on the west side of the lake.

Canadian Assured Position In Amateur Golf Tourney

MONTREAL (CP)—The quarter and semi-final rounds of the Canadian amateur golf championship may produce some upsets today, but one thing is certain—there will be a Canadian in the final 36-hole test Saturday.

The upper half of today's draw lists four Canadians and the lower section has one Canadian, a South African and two golfers from the United States.

Hugh Paterson of Hull, Que., could conceivably make it an all-Canadian final if he defeats Bobby Cole, the Johannesburg native and British amateur champion.

In the same section, defending champion Bunky Henry of Valdosta, Ga., goes against unheralded Bill Brew of Wethersfield, Conn.

In the all-Canadian top half, it's veteran Nick Weslock of Burlington, Ont. against Peter Hope of Dartmouth, N.S. and Calgary's Doug Silverberg meeting Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont.

Weslock remains the Canadian choice after he glided through the second and third rounds Thursday with a 5 and 3 win over Toronto's Ray Briden. In the afternoon round Weslock knocked off Montreal's Gordon LeRiche 5 and 4.

Hope, Weslock's opponent in the quarter-finals, was forced to the 19th hole before he could advance past Thursday afternoon's third round.

The Nova Scotian sank a 20-foot birdie putt at the 19th to defeat Wayne Vollmer, 21, of Vancouver. Earlier he fought another 19-hole match with James Jewell of Indianapolis, Ind.

Silverberg, a member of Alberta's successful Willingdon Cup team, forced two American golfers to the sidelines to get to today's play.

He knocked out Raymond Beallo of Cleveland in the morning and eliminated Dick Siderow of Westport, Conn., in the third round. Siderow went down at the 19th hole, while Beallo bowed out 3 and 2.

Siderow is ranked with the top 10 amateur golfers in the U.S.

TV Highlights

ON SATURDAY

At 8:30 p.m. — The Beverly Hillsbillies — Brewster's Baby. Granny eagerly volunteers as midwife for a young matron who is expecting a baby, unaware that the infant is to be adopted. Starring Buddy Ebsen as Jed Clampett, Irene Ryan as Grannie, Donna Douglas as Elly May and Max Baer as Jethro.

At 10 p.m. — Twelve for Summer — Countrytime Jamboree. A country-western show from Halifax, featuring Vic Mullen's Country Swingsters; The Down Easters; and the Boutillier Brothers. Host is Don Tremaine.

ON SUNDAY

At 2 p.m. — Dr. Finlay's Casebook — The Big Fight. Dr. Finlay tries to persuade young Ben Hogan not to become a boxer—but he will not be discouraged and gets a chance for a proper fight in Glasgow. He is so badly knocked about that his seconds have to throw in the towel.

At 3 p.m. — CEC Sports Presents David Wolper. Special documentary on Korea, the war and its aftermath.

At 4 p.m. — Time for Adventure — The Flood. Eight youngsters are cut off by the East Anglian floods in a farmhouse with no grown-ups to help them. The story tells how they deal with the situation until they are rescued.

At 5:30 p.m. — 20/20 — Diary of John and George. A film story on jockey Johnny Longden and British Columbia-bred race horse George Royal. Film includes highlights of George Royal winning the San Juan Capistrano Handicap in 1965 and 1966 at Santa Anita, California.

At 7 p.m. — Cine Club 'A' — Winner of a Grand Prize for animation at the 1964 Oberhausen Festival, is the work of the brilliant Polish film-maker Jan Lenica. Getting There is Half the Fun, Spoof by Toronto-tonian John Tames, showing how not to make a home movie about your holidays.

At 8 p.m. — Ed Sullivan — With Ray Bloch and his orchestra. With guests Jimmy Durante and Sonny King, Petula Clark, the Animals, Franco Corelli and Dorothy Kirsten, Myron Cohen, Lawrence and Carroll, Gita Morelly and Jose Cole.

At 9 p.m. — Bonanza — The Code. A professional gunman challenges Little Joe to a duel, from which he cannot back down. George Montgomery is guest star.

At 10 p.m. — Compass — That British Fact. A study of what has happened to the dream of an 'un-American', British North America as conceived by the Fathers of Confederation, and explained in Professor George Grant's book Lament for a Nation—The Defeat of Canadian Nationalism.

ON MONDAY

At 8 p.m. — The Fugitive — With Strings Attached. Richard Kimble becomes chauffeur in the strange household of a teenage violin virtuoso.

At 9 p.m. — Summer Music Hall — Light music and comedy starring John Davidson.

At 10 p.m. — Singalong Jubilee — Folksongs, sea shanties, spirituals, work songs, and campfire songs. Co-hosts: Bill Langstroth and Jim Bennet.

ON TUESDAY

At 9 p.m. — The Dick Van Dyke Show — Body and Sol. Pitter Patter Petrie defends his boxing title against a bruising fighter known as Boom Boom Bailey, in a flashback to Rob's army days. Ordered to fight by his commanding officer, the outmatched Rob Petrie tries to dazzle his opponent with some of the fanciest footwork ever seen in the ring.

At 9:30 p.m. — Gideon's Way — The Prowler. A mentally disturbed young man strikes terror among London girls when he goes around snipping their hair. Commander Gideon sets a big search in motion in the hope of trapping the young man before he becomes dangerous, and the hue and cry leads to a terrifying climax.

ON WEDNESDAY

At 10 p.m. — Eight Stories Inside Quebec — Confederation of Two. An examination of three marriages between French and English-speaking

Jimmy Durante's Life Story May Be Seen On Broadway

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene.

Jimmy Durante's life may be the next show business biography to appear on the Broadway stage. During a recent visit here, former MGM chief, Dore Schary, discussed with Durante and his agents his proposal for a musical play based on the comedian's earlier years. Schary should know his subject; back in the 1930s he wrote gags for Durante's radio show.

If the stage biography succeeds, it will undoubtedly lead to a film version. The Durante story was almost filmed a few years ago with Dean Martin as the comedian, Frank Sinatra as his partner-agent, the late Lou Clayton, and Bing Crosby as Eddie Jackson. But financial arrangements couldn't be worked out, and the deal expired.

"I still think Dean Martin would make a good Durante," says Jimmy himself, "though he'd have to put some putty on his nose, of course . . ."

Canadians — "confederations of two". Three couples tell how they have reconciled their diverse language and cultural backgrounds in their relationships with each other.

ON THURSDAY

At 8 p.m. — Seaway — Hot Line. When Nick King calls Admiral Fox on the admiral's ship-to-shore hot line, it is to report an emergency. Nick is aboard an abandoned ship in Toronto harbor, and he has discovered a convicted murderer who escaped from prison the night before.

At 9 p.m. — I Dream of Jeannie — My Master The Thief. Jeannie takes a pair of valuable antique slippers from a museum exhibit and the blame falls on Tony.

At 9:30 p.m. — Telescope — The Diamond Trade. The story of the international diamond business—from Pelican St. in Antwerp, through the sorting and distribution in London's Hatton Garden to the cutting, polishing and fitting in New York.

ON FRIDAY

At 8 p.m. — The Lenny Breau Show, with Winnipeg guitarist Lenny Breau, with the Bob McMullin Orchestra.

At 8:30 p.m. — Get Smart — The Assassin. Agent Maxwell Smart is captured and brainwashed by KAOS to kill his boss, the Chief.

Now two James Bond movies are shooting at once.

Casino Royale, first of the Ian Fleming books, which Charles Feldman bought before the current craze, is still filming in England after months of production. Unable to secure the services of Sean Connery, Feldman is having a series of stars impersonate

You Only Live Twice has also started filming in England, with Connery in his customary role. The company will shift to Japan later this summer.

Just back from visiting troops in Viet Nam, John Wayne is eager to film The Green Berets. He'll get to it after he makes a western for Universal. Will he film the war movie in Viet Nam?

"I don't know about that," he said dubiously. "You might get into trouble if you started firing a lot of blanks over there. Anyway, the defence department is eager to have us make the picture, and we'll make it wherever it's practical . . ."

'You Must Go For Target'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When you see something you want, you should go after it with all your energies. Those who wait for things to come to them usually have to be satisfied with leftovers."

This bit of sagacity comes from Richard Harris, one of the more accomplished actors of Anglo-American show business. Within weeks he will be starting his enactment of King Arthur in the (apparently) last collaboration of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe—Camelot.

The pageant is being produced by Jack L. Warner, who left his position as Warner Brothers headman to produce the Lerner-Loewe adaptation of My Fair Lady.

NIMBLE Fingers

by Frances Hatfield

The old spinning wheel at the door of my Pinehill Pottery is seldom still these days. People driving by pull in to the side of the road to take a second look of astonishment at the figure busy spinning her own wool yarn. Children tumble out of the cars and dash in to ask, to touch the wool, to step delicately or firmly on the tread and see the wheel turn and the spindle nibble up the soft stuff.

Frequently they ask what that funny soft stuff is, and where it could come from. I think I'll have to keep a sheep at the door to introduce our modern child to the idea that not all our materials come from a test tube. But how gratifying it is to send them off with a dab of wool and the story of the reality of the old craft.

The reality of the materials of our pots was the main theme of our summer pottery session at a neighboring summer art school this July. Young and old, ranging in age from seven to 74, were taken abroad to dig the clay from the banks and carry it to the lakeside where it took shape in small containing hollows of primitive pots. Drying done in the sun was no problem, while we sought the shade.

BIG BONFIRE

Later, we built a huge bonfire, with all the pots tenderly placed on a bed of warm ash, but not until the pupils had really lavished a good shine on the ware with elbow grease and the use of their old tooth brushes though. Next morning, when we raked out the pots, dozens and dozens in all, we had lost only two specimens.

Building a raku kiln outdoors in a pasture in 90 degree weather certainly makes people get on with the job. We had the kiln built in a morning. The following days of firings were hot and hectic, with potters getting more caught up in the rapid firing technique as their own pots were drawn, red hot, from the kiln.

The two teachers standing by with a tin of sawdust and a pond of cold water would call out "Smoked or not". Instantly, the pot owner had to decide the fate of his glaze colors, whether they were to be given smoke and thus undergo the change of a reduction firing, which could give wonderful iron and copper reds, or retain them about as he had seen pots come from a regular oxidation firing.

It is a type of pottery very much for the potter himself, or the person interested in the sense of the rugged and simple earthy quality of pottery I feel sure that the Raku fires we lit this summer in the Okanagan Valley will continue to glow through the winter in many hearts and will burst out into a fever of backyard kiln building when the good weather returns. But check it out with your local fire department please.

WINNING ARTIST
VANCOUVER (CP) — Edward Hanuse, 19, of Coquitlam has won first prize in the B.C. senior painting section of the Centennial Arts and Crafts Competition for Indian students, it was announced Thursday. He entered 12 paintings, done in oils and water colors, depicting still life scenes, Indian dances and wild animals.

GREEK MAPPED AFRICA
The Greek geographer Ptolemy mapped African mountains from travellers' descriptions 1,800 years ago.

TV-Shock Girl Wasn't Dumb

LONDON (Reuters)—A missing girl whom police thought regained her speech and hearing after seeing her photograph on television, was neither deaf nor dumb, it was revealed today.

Katherine Simmonds, 17, disappeared from her Coventry, central England, home July 24 and was found by police wandering along a London road six days ago.

She wrote on a pad that she was deaf and dumb and had no parents. Police immediately circulated her picture and started a hunt for relatives.

Katherine spoke only once—when she saw her picture on television—and the police thought the shock of seeing herself briefly restored her speech and hearing.

But a Coventry policewoman recognized her as a girl—neither deaf, dumb nor an orphan—reported missing from her home. The girl now is in hospital for treatment.

We're Staying Asserts Fred

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How long should a television series stay on the air?

"Not long enough so they get tired of you," says Fred Macmurray.

Audiences show no signs of tiring of Fred on My Three Sons. Nor, CBS will be happy to learn, is Fred weary of the series—yet.

He was gratified that My Three Sons bounced back to the top ranks in audience ratings after a switchover from ABC. He is likely to remain as long as it stays in the upper reaches.

Macmurray appears to be the easiest of performers but his work is harder than it seems. For example, he now is playing the title role of a new Disney musical, The Happiest Millionaire, in which he is required to dance an Irish jig.

"Pulled a muscle the first day," he reported. "I've managed to avoid dancing most of my career. I never did any on Broadway, and I had only one in a picture before: A Swiss slapping dance with Eddie Foy Jr. in some old musical. I was sore for weeks."

My Three Sons also has its strenuous aspects. Originally Fred did all his scenes in a three-month period, then the rest of the cast filled out the scripts with their own scenes. Now he does his work in two or three sessions of shooting, a few weeks at a time.

"It's better this way," he said. "But still, it can be tough. I do most of my scenes with no one else around. I address a roomful of kids, and there's not a soul there."

Book Corner

A new book proves the point RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan was making at the Munsinger inquiry in Ottawa. It's difficult to catch any spy, he said, but particularly hard to catch a Russian one.

The Case of Richard Sorge (Chatto and Windus) by F. W. Deakin and G. R. Storry tells in fascinating detail how a Soviet agent bamboozled the Germans and Japanese for eight profitable years up to 1941.

There seems no doubt that Sorge was one of the greatest spies in history. He was a German journalist in Tokyo and was an intimate of the German ambassador and military attaches. One of the members of his ring was an adviser to the Japanese cabinet.

Some of the information Sorge passed to the Russians: The date of the German attack on Russia in 1941; the Japanese decision not to attack Siberia; the Japanese plan to move south against the U.S., and when.

Sorge became so ingratiating at the German embassy, especially with bits of information on Japanese policy the Germans didn't know, that it took him on as an adviser and part-time secretary.

He used this job to photograph documents which the Germans let him see for his comments. Once, when carrying some photographs to Hong Kong to pass on to another Soviet agent, he also carried some German documents at the request of the German ambassador.

The Japanese finally caught Sorge, but only through a fluke.

Question: Why do the Russians always seem to have the most successful spies, or, at least, the most successful known spies?

Wop May (Clarke Irwin) by Iris Allan is the story of the Edmonton boy who became a First World War flying ace and then one of Canada's great bush pilots. The book is illustrated by William Wheeler.

The Canadian navy's job in the Korean War was mainly drudgery. So is the official history about it, "Canadian Naval Operations in Korean Waters 1950-1955."

The authors are Thor Thorgrimsson and E. C. Russell of the naval historical staff. The book was published May 7 by the Queen's Printer.

In carefully researching the book, which includes many photographs and a splendid index and references, the authors have removed all the life. By treating events in chronological order, it is not until the third mention of Surgeon Lieut. J. C. Cyr that it is stated that Cyr was the impostor Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr.—and that in a footnote.

It seems to be becoming a habit in official histories of the armed forces to ignore some pertinent facts about personnel.

The recently published Army history of Korean operations made no mention of the fact that Brig. J. C. Connelly was fired for his part in the Koje Island prisoner-of-war incident.

This naval history does not mention that Cmdr. R. C. Chenoweth and others were court-martialed after the destroyer Huron ran aground—or that Chenoweth won his appeal to the court martial appeal board.

Dr. Kildare Trails Dick

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It has been a few months since Richard Chamberlain abandoned his bedside manner as Dr. Kildare, but the earnest young medic continues to haunt him.

"And will continue for some time to come," he says. After all, the NBC series has been on the network five years and will continue to rerun itself to death in the late summer. Now Chamberlain is faced with the challenge that comes to all stars of television series: Establishing his own identity.

As a first move, Chamberlain embarked on a four-week tour of summer theatres in the Noel Coward comedy, Private Lives. The results?

"Mixed," the actor says. "The audiences laughed all the way, but it was tough playing an intimate comedy in theatres seating up to 4,000 people."

"While the audiences seemed to like the show, I could sense the resistance to my appearing as something besides Kildare. During the early part of the play, there would be an undercurrent of comment as people said things like, 'but his hair isn't blonde' or, 'he doesn't sound the same on TV.'"

The hair is part of his escape plan. He changed from his good-guy blonde to a shade somewhat darker than his natural brown.

Chamberlain realizes, of course, that it will take more than a change of hair shade to create himself in a new image. He's reading scripts in search of a movie to aid the campaign.

Must Liz Answer This In Court?

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Must Liz Taylor answer in court for her romance with Richard Burton and her remarks about the film, Cleopatra?

A federal judge says he believes so.

"In the final analysis, Taylor's alleged conduct was such that she should be required to defend this action in the state of Oregon," said Judge John F. Kilkenny.

His opinion came in a suit brought in state circuit court by a Portland theatre, contending that the publicity about her conduct and her remarks about the quality of the film hurt at the box office. The theatre wants $44,653 damages.

CLAY MEETS STARS IN U.K.

Clint Walker during a visit to the set of movie, The Dirty Dozen in Markyate, Bedfordshire, England. In centre is actor Lee Marvin, also in the film. Clay has since returned to the United States. He was in England for his successful third-round victory over Brian London.

His Advice 'Keep It Clean' When Playing In Viet Nam

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sutton's advice to performers who go to Viet Nam to entertain troops is: Keep it clean.

Legends of barracks ribaldry notwithstanding, Sutton says: "Don't use blue material. They don't like it. It's a form of talking down to them."

Sutton, the gravel-voiced, bulldog-faced sergeant who harasses Jim Nabors on television's Gomer Pyle, USMC, went to Viet Nam during the show's summer recess, from filming.

He paid his own way to Saigon by commercial airliner. Then he did 56 one-man shows in eight days for marine corps audiences ranging from 18 to 1,000 men.

A writer-actor friend, Larry Hovis, who plays a GI prisoner in Hogan's Heroes, wrote Sutton's 22-minute routine.

MORE GOMERS? Does the U.S. Marine Corps really have such inept characters as the fumbling though well-meaning Gomer Pyle? Here's Sutton's comment: "In every unit someone would say, 'you've got to see our Gomer Pyle,' and then call out: 'Go get so-and-so.'"

Green-eyed and 42, with crew-cut brown hair, Sutton got his training for the TV role as a real-life sergeant in the Second World War. He took part in 14 Pacific beachhead assaults.

Born in Clarksville, Tenn., he came to Hollywood movies and television via summer stock and Broadway. He has a wife, Toby, and two children.

His harsh voice is the result of a node on a vocal chord. A doctor checks it periodically and could remove it. But Sutton says that might soften the grating tone and: "I don't want to change the character."

SEEK SOCIALIST BRIDES

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio says a "wedding palace" has been opened in Havana to perform "socialist weddings."

MOVIE highlights

Some top entertainment has been lined up for next week at Kelowna's two theatres.

The Paramount theatre will show Made In Paris, at 7 and 9 p.m., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 15 to 17.

Country Music On Broadway will run at the same hours on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 18 to 20 and at the matinee on Saturday at 2 p.m.

At the Drive-in, Lord Jim is scheduled to run Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 13, 15 and 16 at dusk.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 17 to 19, Bikini Beach will be shown.

Mare In Paris stars Ann-Margret. It has wit, humor, sizzling love scenes and skylarking fun in a story of a beautiful girl who is sent to the French capital as a fashion buyer, meets the city's leading designer who tries to teach her about the latest fashions in love; is given a whirl by an American newspaper man who knows his Left Bank and his rights with women; and, finally, has to decide between them and the boss's son, who has chased her across the Atlantic.

Country Music On Broadway has more than 30 songs and is the first feature-length all-country music motion picture ever filmed.

The plot centres around a star-studded troupe of country and western personalities playing a stage show in New York on Broadway. The all-star cast includes Hank Williams junior, Merle Kilgore, Duke of Paducah, Audrey Williams, Hank Snow, Bill Anderson, George Jones and George Riddle.

Lord Jim is based on Joseph Conrad's novel and is the story of a young man's desperate attempt to redeem his lost honor. The setting is the colorful and exciting Malay Archipelago at the turn of the century. Starred is Peter O'Toole in the title role with James Mason and Curt Jurgens.

Jim was a ship's officer who, in a moment of panic, deserted passengers on a sinking ship. Seeking a way to forget his dishonor, he lives among natives in the Far East where he is given the title of Tuan, a lord.

Bikini Beach features the colorful, exciting and popular sport of drag racing also surfing, beach fun and songs.

Starred are Frankie Avalon, Annette Funicello, Martha Hyer, Harvey Lembeck, Don Rickles, John Ashley, Jody McCreat and Candy Johnson with Keenan Wynn as special guest star. Co-starring are "Little Stevie" Wonder, The Pyramids and The Exciters Band.

This time the surfing youngsters become involved in drag racing, with a Beatle-like British recording star, and with an almost-human chimpanzee to make for a fun-filled series of adventures. Add to this, ten brand-new Hit Parade-destined song and dance numbers and you have the recipe for exciting musical comedy entertainment designed for both the young in age and the young in heart.

Tube Firm Plans Project In U.K.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Radio Corp. of America and Radio Rentals, Ltd. have formed a new company to make RCA color television picture tubes in England, it was announced here today.

Spokesmen for both companies said the firm, RCA Colour Tubes Ltd., will produce for both British and export markets.

Charles Bickford Paid Heed But Decided Against Suitcase

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Charles Bickford was a young stock company actor, an old man carrying a shabby suitcase passed him on the street.

"He'd been an actor 50 years and taught me everything I knew," Bickford recalls. "Everything he owned was in that suitcase. I made up my mind that wouldn't happen to me."

Counting the value of his investments, Bickford now is a millionaire, owning three companies that employ nearly 100 persons.

And at 75 he's still working, launching his first television series as the ranch owner in NBC's weekly 90-minute The Virginian. He succeeds Lee J. Cobb in the show, filming for its fifth year.

"Retire? Why should I? There are things I want to do," growled the screen veteran, a rebellious Irishman who has scrapped with movie moguls over contracts.

SEEN EVERYTHING

"I've been everywhere, seen practically everything. I don't have to work, but I would miss it if I didn't."

Bickford is a Cambridge, Mass., native who was a looper, hero, barker, rough exterminator and vaudeville performer en route to Broadway and then movie stardom.

His business sidelines are a suburban hay and grain company that supplies Santa Anita and Hollywood Park race tracks a delivery firm with 57 trucks operating in six southern California counties, and a Beverly Hills telephone exchange serving 500 doctors. A book he wrote, stock holdings and a Massachusetts hog farm he acquired in 1924 also produce income.

"Competent managers" help him run his sidelines.

Biting into a steak sandwich, the man with pale blue eyes, scraggly reddish eyebrows and grey-white hair said that except for a trick knee he feels "as good as when I was a kid." The knee was hurt when he was riding horseback.

Serious Injury Overcome By Ex-Dancer Gene Nelson

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Gene Nelson was gravely injured in an equestrian accident nearly 10 years ago, a certain segment of his audience said—and not without sympathy—"well, there goes another good dancer."

Gene himself wasn't sure he'd ever take a step again. His pelvis, among other things, was fractured, and he feared one leg would be shorter than the other.

Always an enthusiastic rider, Nelson was on location in Tennessee when a horse threw him, then fell on him. That was in 1957.

He did dance again, in 1960. And he found a new career, as a director.

"It's an old wives' tale that dancers are short-lived professionally," he said. "Most of our famous film dancers are still agile today, and so am I. The real reason I danced sporadically after I recovered is simple: There just aren't enough musicals to keep dancers busy these days. You have to learn to do something else."

WROTE SCRIPTS

"Shut up in a hospital. I learned to write scripts. The first few didn't get used, but they got me contacts in television. One of these asked me if I wanted to try my hand at directing. I jumped at the chance."

Among a long list of shows Nelson directed was the first live TV presentation of Matinee Theatre. He also appeared in many, sometimes as a dancer.

"You have to learn fast because that's the way they do everything in television," he said. "A director must know script technique."

U.K. Bill Hits Radio Pirates

LONDON (Reuters) — The British government today presented to Parliament a bill designed to put out of business pirate radio stations which beam non-stop programs of rock 'n' roll and commercials at Britain.

There now are 10 pirate stations, operating from ships and abandoned sea forts outside territorial waters. They claim audiences of 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 for their programs, which compete with the state-owned BBC.

The bill, to be published Thursday, is expected to ban broadcasting from ships, aircraft, and certain marine structures and to make it an offence for a British citizen to work for or aid the pirate stations, or to advertise on them.

Heavy fines will be imposed on anyone breaking the law which is expected to come into force in March.

James Fox Sort of Actor Audience Tends to Forget

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—He reminds some observers of Harold Lloyd. He reminds his producer of Buddy Rogers.

Those who see him in the roaring 20s spoof Thoroughly Modern Millie may be reminded of almost anyone except the actor himself and the parts he has played.

James Fox probably has been seen by more moviegoers who can't recall his name than any other young leading man in Hollywood.

Versatility may be the reason his professional reputation outstrips his box office appeal. He was named Most Promising Actor of the Year by the Variety Club of Britain after playing an effete, upper-class Englishman victimized by his butler in Joseph Losey's prestigious The Servant. From there he went on to play a pilot in Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines and a prisoner of war in King Rat.

After another serious role in The Chase, Fox turned to farce in Millie which will be finished next month. As a bespectacled playboy Fox sings, teaches a frenetic dance called the tapioca and scales a building in a scene reminiscent of a classic Harold Lloyd comedy from the 1920s.

NAME IMPORTANT

Fox's name means little to the public, much to producers. Why?

"There's a kind of gap all over the world for my type," Fox said. The type is the young leading man with polish, a type not seen much since Leslie Howard's and Ronald Colman's day.

Fox is tall, blonde, slender and what a writer might call sensitive-featured. He speaks with the clarity, precision and style of an Englishman brought up conventionally and sent to Harrow, which he is.

Like other British actors, Fox came to Hollywood already trained. You don't learn here, he said.

"Hollywood is the place you come to deliver."

THIS IS HOW James Fox appears in Thoroughly Modern Millie, playing a bespectacled playboy of the Roaring Twenties. He's played so many different parts that moviegoers have trouble remembering his name.

Baby's Rattle 3,200 Years Old

EAST BERLIN (Reuters) — East German scientists have found what they say is a 3,200-year-old baby's rattle. The clay rattle was discovered among ancient bones and pottery in diggings outside Berlin.

DOINK . . .! And Bottle Breaks Over Head Of Barman Lon Chaney

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The studio air conditioning is cut off for the next take and the barroom set is simmering under a blaze of floodlights.

"Let the laugh go all the way this time, Aldo," says director-writer Burt Kennedy. "Remember, you've never had more fun in your life."

Moments later massive Aldo Ray, a mad movie killer, smashes a bottle of whisky on the head of Lon Chaney and bartender Chaney goes off the payroll in an alcoholic bath.

Just possibly this will give you a hint that actor Ray is essaying a new screen image: Brute heavy.

You would be right. "I think — I hope — this will give me about a 10-year boost in film roles," said Aldo, kicking aside the remnants of the sugar-glass bottle and mopping tea-whisky off his shirt.

"I've played heavies before, but usually in comedy or at least in parts that had some humorous overtones. But there is simply nothing in this character to arouse any sympathy whatever. He epitomizes the devil."

LOVES VIOLENCE

In Welcome to Hard Times the only thing Aldo loves is violence. And it is a motiveless, psychopathic violence, during which he kills seven persons and burns down the town of Hard Times, supposedly in South Dakota.

When four survivors manage in a year to rebuild the little settlement, Aldo comes back and burns it down again. As you've already guessed, he dies with the village this time.

It's grim stuff indeed. Kennedy, who wrote the script, has made certain that no trace of sentiment is inspired by this sadistic bully who hasn't a name. He's known only as "the man from Brodie."

Aldo never speaks a word from start to finish in this saga of Hard Times. The only vocal sound he makes is the maniacal, rasping laugh that breaks forth in the nastiest places.

All of this is a far cry from the Aldo Ray who met fame in Miss Sadie Thompson in 1954. All, except for the rasp in the laugh, which vaguely recalls the gravelly speech that had become his film trademark over the years.

Repertory Signs Canadian Up

NEW YORK (CP)—The Lincoln Centre Repertory Company has signed John Hirsch, a Hungarian-born Canadian citizen, to direct Yerma, a play scheduled to open Dec. 8 at the Vivian Beaumont Theatre.

Hirsch, 36, currently is represented in the Stratford, Ont., Shakespearean Festival by Henry VI. He is the founder and artistic director of the Manitoba Theatre Centre in Winnipeg, an adviser to Canada's National Centre for the Performing Arts and a member of the advisory committee of Expo 67, the world's fair that will be held in Montreal.

She's Small, Loves Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Giovanna Ralli is a small striking, dark-haired Italian reminiscent of Sophia Loren and Natalie Wood.

She loves to work.

Miss Ralli spent much of a recent 12-hour working day sweltering in a car before cameras at Paramount filming a scene that will consume but a few seconds on screen.

The sequence for The Caper of the Golden Bulls shows a car being searched at the border between Gibraltar and Spain. The sun, at least, was authentic—hot as Spain's.

Miss Ralli brushed back her hair with her hand, licked her lips, tugged at her gloves and waited placidly for technicians to prepare for shooting. Movie lights added to the sun's glare. A few minutes later a rehearsal and a take went satisfactorily.

Her shooting over for awhile, Miss Ralli jumped out of the car and walked away as if grilling under the sun were unimaginably entertaining.

Caper, a comedy-thriller about a jewel robbery at the Pamplona Festival in Spain, is the latest of Miss Ralli's more than 30 films since she became an actress at 13. She now is in her mid-20s. When asked why she almost never takes a vacation and rarely relaxes for more than a weekend, she replied: "I prefer to work."

She has been an established actress in Italy for years.

Kelowna residents who have both FM radio and Regina and area visitors in their homes, can do their guests a favor if they are football fans. At 7 p.m. tonight, B.C. Lions will take to the Regina grid-iron to stalk the Regina team.

Last Monday's upset when Calgary had the Lions by their tails in their own front yard, caused B.C. fans to gasp after the Lions' victory at Calgary on Aug. 3.

As a few hours change of pace, tonight's broadcast, exclusive on OV-FM and AM, will give respite to Regatta-weary football fans. The football airing will prove a refreshing change and there will still be time to take up the Regatta pace and the night show after the game ends at 9 p.m. So invite your football-fueled friends to listen at 7 p.m. this evening. If you are a Lions' fan, you could start an interesting test of friendship with your Regina mates.

Classics For A Sunday continues to climb in popularity on Sunday morning from 9 to 11. Gloria and her section of just-right, just-light classics is one reason why. The two programs following, Moods Moderne and Sounds of Music provide a nice popular instrumental pace to the balance of the morning until noon, completing an ideal variety of the best of music which starts at 7 a.m. with Morning Mists each Sunday.

CJOV-FM bows out to simulcasting of CKOV-AM from noon until 3 p.m. Sunday. The return to exclusive separate programming via OV-FM begins at 3 p.m. with Gordon Bromley's Premiere of Music. Gloria sits in with Gord for an hour of sampling the newest albums on the rise in quality music. Gordon sets out to prove again this Sunday that Music You Like Doesn't Need to Be Expensive.

He's got quality selections to prove this on Sunday featuring such artists as the all-time great organist Ethel Smith who'll be heard in the new Organ Holiday album. Others will feature piano stylist Eddy Heywood, the continental sounds of Raoul Meynard and a variety of orchestral and vocal top stars.

On the way through to midnight your FM Fare features from 8 to 10 this Sunday evening, the great baritone George Beverly Shea with selections from the new album The Ten Commandments. In this the singer sings beautifully rendered story songs based on the Exodus saga. The basic orchestral music of the easy listening variety will form the main pattern for the program Strings and Things on which Shea is featured.

ORGAN AND ORCHESTRA

Monday night's Symphony Hall concert looks interesting. The program heard at 9 to 10 p.m. Monday to Friday and at 7 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, always has the finest of the great orchestras with music of the masters. But this Sunday's offering we mention especially due to the premiere of a new album on CJOV-FM. Haydn's Concerto For Organ and Orchestra in C Major we feel will be worth noting.

Organ soloist Eva Holderlin will perform with the Chamber Orchestra of The Sarre conducted by Karl Ristenpart. Other selections to be featured will be Sinfonia Concertante for violin, cello, oboe, bassoon and orchestra. This album was recorded in Europe and offers a superb and authoritative rendering of Haydn's great work.

From the sublime to the ridiculous we suggest you hear Comedy Star Time this Tuesday afternoon and evening at the times of 4 to 5 p.m. and 10 to 11 p.m. The man who directed the new Taylor-Burton movie, Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe, is Mike Nichols. In his background are a number of albums he made with the title of simply Mike Nichols and Elaine Mae.

These recordings were undoubtedly to become collector's items because of their excellent, clever quality of sophisticated dialogue between two people. One of these will be the feature album on Comedy Star Time Tuesday. Nichols and Mae have become New York legends in smart entertainment circles. Nichols himself has come a long way in arriving at proving his plus talent and has the director level, especially so in his having been rated high enough to handle the stormy team of Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. This Tuesday's comedy offering will in effect be an interesting flashback on the work of two very interesting performers.

Leonard Bernstein conducts the Royal Danish Orchestra in Nielsen's Symphony No. 3, on Wednesday evening's Symphony Hall at 9 to 10. Thursday at 8 p.m. football coverage will be at Winnipeg with B.C. Lions. FM Theatre on Thursday at 4 to 5 p.m. and 10 to 11 p.m. will feature The Pajama Game and The Most Happy Fella with original cast renditions of these two Broadway hit musicals.

U.S. Movie Company Explains On Olde English Village Row

CASTLE COMBE, England (AP)—A U.S. movie company finished its final scene today at this picture postcard village on which it did a controversial facelift for filming.

"It's been a lot of fun," said director Richard Fleischer, "and we haven't harmed the village at all. I think we've improved it."

When 20th Century-Fox moved in here in May with 1,500 animals, Rex Harrison and 200 other humans, a few residents said:

"Don't spoil our village."

Four years ago Castle Combe was voted England's prettiest village in a countryside poll conducted by the British Travel Association.

In the wake of worldwide publicity, visitors by the thousands poured into Castle Combe. Soft drink signs and other posters sprung up.

While Castle Combe remained a beautiful village, it did not top the poll again.

Meanwhile, in Hollywood, producer Arthur P. Jacobs decided to film Hugh Lofting's Dr. Doolittle, a story about a man who talks to animals. He picked the village as the ideal spot on a tour of Britain.

NOT ALL HAPPY

Then the disapprovals came. Beresford Worwick, who moved here from London, called in the royal fine arts commission, which publicly expressed regret that a film company should have made alterations to a village that dates back to pre-Roman days.

Then Mrs. K. R. Harris rebutted the charges saying:

"We must be eternally grateful to 20th century-Fox. Its remade the village. It now looks like it did years ago—before all the signs and the television aerials sprung up."

Mrs. Thomas, a former owner of the entire village, now owns six houses here and the nearby manor house.

The movie company removed the signs and the TV aerials. They erected a huge antenna in nearby woods and pipe outlets underground to the homes of all TV set owners.

"It cost us about $80,000," said Fleischer, "and we've set up a fund of $10,000 to maintain it. It has greatly improved the looks of Castle Combe."

Sir Ranulph Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, a 22-year-old baronet, and three friends, were charged with attempting to destroy a dam which the film company built to make the village look like a fishing port. They were charged with "conspiracy to create a public mischief" and released on £50 ($150) bail.

Top Came Off . . . But Show Didn't

TORONTO (CP) — The top came off but the show didn't Thursday night at a special press preview of Toronto's first topless gogo dancer.

The dancer, an unidentified, blonde Toronto girl, was shrouded from view by a thick cloud of carbon dioxide, produced with dry ice.

Colin Kerr, owner of the My-nah Bird coffee house in midtown Yorkville Village, said the preview was to gauge the response of reporters and the police morality squad. The police decided not to come and several reporters walked out moments after the show began, claiming it was a fraud.

Mr. Kerr said the show opening still is tentatively set for Aug. 2 at his coffee house.
